Returns To Face Scandal

BOSTON (UP) — Henry M. Blackmer, 80-year-old Colorado multi-millionaire who exiled himself for 25 years to escape questioning in the Teapot Dome scandal, was hospitalized today, unable to return to Denver to face the music.

Doctors refused to disclose the nature of his illness, or say when he might leave.

Blackmer and his wife Kaja, a Norwegian opera singer he married 20 years ago, arrived at Logan airport from Paris Wednesday. They gave their name only as Smith and it was several hours before their true identities were learned.

The multi-millionaire reportedly was met at the airport by his New York attorneys. He made his identity known to immigration officials and was released within a few hours when he said he was en route to his home in Denver to face charges of tax evasion and prejury brought in 1928. From the airport he was rushed to the hospital.

Blackmer voluntarily became a man without a country rather than testify at hearings into the oil frauds during the administration of President Warren G. Harding which sent Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall and oil magnate Harry F. Sinclair to jail.

Verdict Near

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — Tokyo Rose defence attorneys were concluding their final arguments today and the prosecution announced it would take about three hours for a rebuttal as the longest treason trial in U.S. history neared the jury.

The indications were that Federal Judge Michael J. Roche would give his instructions Friday and the case would go to the six-man six-woman jury then.

Attorney George Olshausen, presenting final arguments for the defence Wednesday, denounced government witnesses and testimony in the case against the 33-year-old defendant, Mrs. Iva Toguri d'Aquino.

Rulings Will Net 10 Million More In Yearly Revenue

OTTAWA (CP)—The Board of Transport Commissioners, in a majority report, today granted an 8 per cent increase in freight rates.

The new rate increase is in addition to the 21 per cent awarded the carriers March, 1948.

The board said an increase of 15 per cent—rather than the 21 per cent it awarded the railways in a judgment March, 1948—would have been necessary to meet financial needs.

In effect, however, the 21 per cent increase will remain in the rate structure.

Expected to net the railways about $10,000,000 in additional annual revenue, the new freight-rate boost is a temporary measure on the railways' application for a general freight-rate increase of 20 per cent.

The board said it would deal with the application again after the Royal Commission on Transportation and other governmental surveys on railway business complete their findings. This is expected to take place some time next spring.

In a minority judgment, Hugh Wardrope, assistant chief commissioner, recommended an increase of 15 per cent. Mr. Wardrope, who had recommended a boost of 24 per cent in a minority report in March, 1948, on the original application for a 30-per-cent boost, said he felt the award last year should not be altered.

With the new eight-per-cent hoist, the board ordered an increase in the rates of coal and coke by eight cents a ton, on top of the 25 cents a ton allowed the railways in the 21-per-cent judgment.

20 Per Cent Jump Too High

Mr. Justice M. B. Archibald, Chief Commissioner, who announced the board's decision, said it was the opinion of the majority of the board that the former 21 per-cent boost should have been only 15 per cent.

This "opinion," which does not change the previous freight-rate structure, had a bearing, Mr. Justice Archibald said, in granting only the eight-per-cent temporary increase.

Rates on grain shipments are not affected. They are governed by the Crow's Nest Pass rate agreement.

Three commissioners heard the rates case—one of the most complicated in Canadian history. All provinces — except Ontario and Quebec — appealed against the 21-per-cent boost.

After Newfoundland joined Confederation it linked itself with the provinces in the battle against any new increases in carrier charges.

Commissioner H. B. Chase, concurred with Mr. Justice Archibald in the majority decision. Mr. Wardrope, the third commissioner, said in his opinion, the original 21 per cent hoist should not be changed and that the road should have been granted an additional 15 per cent in the new 20 per cent application, together with an increase in coal and coke charges of 15 cents a ton.

Wage Increases Big Factor

The 15,000-word report said the board was convinced the railways had established a case for a rate increase in view of "a substantial increase" in operating costs since the 21 per cent boost was granted.

One of these operating-cost increases had to do with the 17-cent-an-hour wage hoist granted the railway workers in July, 1948, to forestall a threatened general strike. The railways argued that the wage increase—amounting to some $75,000,000—eliminated revenue advantages they might have obtained from the 21 per cent award.

The board said it did not believe it "fair" that the railways maintain "a high rate of efficiency" without providing them with additional sources of revenue, pending investigations of the Royal Commission and other governmental inquiries.

Mr. Justice Archibald, former Exchequer Court and Nova Scotia Supreme Court Justice, noted in the judgment that "further proof and revision of much of the evidence and many of the exhibits will be required before a final determination can be made with respect to this application."

"In the meantime, however, I am of the opinion that the railways are entitled to some relief."

He continued:

"After taking into consideration the revision of the decision of the 21 per cent case . . . and after consideration of the actual estimated and probable results of railway operations for 1948 and 1949, I think it reasonable and proper to authorize a general interim increase in the freight rates in effect on July 27, 1948, of 8 per cent; and to increase the rates on coal and coke by eight cents per ton."

London's Rail Strike Fails; Attlee Scores

LONDON (UP)—The London railway strike collapsed today amid reports the government may soon offer limited wage increases to low-paid workers.

All but a handful of 50,000 railwaymen worked normal schedules despite a union order to slow down to one-sixth their normal speed, starting last midnight.

Electric trains and subways, jammed with commuters, roared through London on schedule throughout the morning rush hour. Mainline trains arrived and departed on time.

Only 1,500 of the 50,000 London district rail workers adopted slowdown tactics. Mostly they were freight handlers in depots.

Collapse of the strike, called over government refusal of a $1.40 weekly wage increase, showed unexpected support by rank and file British Labor for Prime Minister Clement Attlee's devaluation program.

The rail workers warned, however, that they had not dropped demands for wage increases, and high authorities said the government may compromise on its wage-freeze program.

Funeral Tomorrow For Two Small Girls Who Died In Fire

An inquest will be conducted by A. E. Green at 2.30 this afternoon at Hirst Funeral Parlor, Duncan, into the tragic death of two-year-old Wendy Jean Petersen and three-year-old Angela May Petersen, only children of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Petersen, who died as a result of the fire which consumed the Shawnigan Lake two-room frame cabin Tuesday night.

Wendy died in the fire, but her elder sister was rescued through the combined efforts of the mother, a war bride, and E. Brandson, step-father of Peter Petersen. Angela, however, died as a result of severe burns and shock in King's Daughters' Hospital at 1.30 Wednesday morning.

Both Mrs. Petersen and Mr. Brandson suffered burns in their heroic efforts to rescue the two trapped girls. They could not penetrate the wall of flame which destroyed the cabin home in a matter of minutes.

The bereaved mother this morning reported that the funeral service for her daughters will be held at 2 Friday afternoon at the Anglican Church, Shawnigan, Rev. E. M. Miller officiating. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

The belief is that the fire was started by the two children playing with matches.

Toronto Paper Claims Noronic Arson Probed

TORONTO (CP)—The Daily Star in a newspage story today said a secret inquiry at the Ontario fire marshal's office was investigating the possibility of arson in connection with last Saturday's fire aboard the cruise Ss. Noronic in which at least 132 persons lost their lives.

The Star said at least two crew members of the Canada Steamship Lines vessel had not been located by investigators.

MAY NEVER KNOW

TORONTO (BUP) — Canada Steamship Lines said today the number of persons missing and unaccounted for in the Noronic fire may never be known.

The fire last Saturday killed 130 passengers, of whom 71 have since been identified, according to the Canadian Red Cross and morgue officials.

Although the ship's manifest listed 685 passengers, a company spokesman said not all of the passengers actually aboard were registered; neither were any children who may have been aboard at the time.

It was believed several of the passengers had guests aboard the once-palatial cruise steamship while she was docked here when the fire broke out.

A. C.S.L. official estimated the number of passengers unaccounted for would exceed 50.

China's chief delegate, Dr. T. F. Tsiang, told the delegates of 59 countries that the North Atlantic pact has halted the flow of Communism across Europe, but that there is no such barrier in the East.

"The Chinese Communist party," he said, "is an integral part of the international movement. It is as fanatical as Communists elsewhere. Its propaganda is always in tune with Moscow propaganda. Its action is always in step with Moscow's action."

Tsiang spoke less than 24 hours after the Chinese Communists proclaimed at Peiping the establishment of a Communist people's republic of China.

Hopes Rise Steel Strike In U.S. May Be Averted

By Associated Press

With more than 600,000 workers already idle in the United States as a result of labor disputes, there was hope that the threatened strike of 1,000,000 C.I.O. steelworkers would be postponed again Thursday.

Steelworkers' leaders were summoned by Philip Murray, union president, to decide whether to comply with President Truman's request that the Saturday night steel strike deadline be extended six days.

The U.S. Steel Corporation already had accepted the Truman proposal.

But chances faded for early settlement of the coal strike which began four days ago. The 480,000 United Mine Workers seemed unlikely to go back to work until the steel dispute is clarified.

The 600,000 workers who are idle across the United States include 480,000 coal miners; 31,373 railroad workers laid off as a result of the coal strike; 25,000 on strike against the Missouri-Pacific railroad; 20,000 cotton pickers in central California; 16,000 B.F. Goodrich Rubber Company employees; 11,100 Singer Manufacturing Company workers, and 17,000 in miscellaneous disputes.

Non-Dollar Ship Fares On Atlantic To Be Increased

LONDON (CP)—An increase in non-dollar steamship fares as a result of pound devaluation was voted today at a conference at Altantic Ocean shippers' representatives.

A spokesman for the Canadian Pacific Steamships said afterwards the shipping line members of the conference had not all agreed on the rates of increase.

"As far as we are aware, the conference has only agreed on the general principle that fares will have to be increased, but no details have been worked out yet," he said.

However, a statement from the conference said: "Since conference rates were established in U.S. dollars it was decided to adjust the fares in accord with the new rates of exchange and thus maintain parity in the fares quoted in America and Europe, which is an essential feature of the rate structure for the Atlantic trade."

No Fire Alarm Heard Aboard Noronic, Survivors Testify

Evidence Taken By Coroner At Cleveland, Ohio

CLEVELAND (UP)—Survivors of the Noronic disaster testified at an inquiry here today that they heard no fire alarm and that few crew members were present as the passengers fled the burning ship.

About 40 survivors from northern Ohio appeared at Cleveland's Council Chambers before Cuyahoga County Coroner Samuel R. Gerber, who is conducting the inquiry as a special deputy of Ontario's Attorney-General Dana Porter.

Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Ross testified they heard voices and footsteps outside their stateroom on D-deck, the lowest passenger deck in the ship. Ross said, "I opened the door of the stateroom and saw smoke in the corridor. We threw on some clothing and left."

Ross said he and his wife saw a member of the ship's orchestra directing passengers to the proper gangplank and said they also noticed a man, who they thought was a ship's officer, knocking on dors to waken the sleeping occupants.

This was the first indication that crew members had attempted to rouse the passengers.

Another couple, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lucco, said they were awakened by breaking glass and noises on the dock. Lucco said, "We saw a ship's officer playing a fire hose against a ceiling in the corridor." The Luccos also said they heard no alarm sounded.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Pierce and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Miller said they heard no alarm and saw no crew members doing anything.

J. Don Church of Silver Lake, O., who said he first discovered the fire, testified he saw only one member of the crew as the blaze began, that a fire hose had no water in it.

Church said: "At 1.20 a.m. Saturday I was sitting in the bar on C-deck with my daughter and two officers from another ship. I decided to go forward to my cabin on D-deck, lower in the ship.

Smoke Came From Under Door

"Just forward of the engine room funnel, I noticed a haze of smoke. It seemed to be thicker on the port side. I discovered smoke from under a door which I thought opened to a stateroom. Inside I heard noises that sounded like flames crackling.

"I ran down the centre passageway yelling 'the boat's on fire,' until I got to the social hall. There I found a man who had on what I believed to be a bellboy's uniform. This man grabbed a small hand extinguisher and we went to the smoking door.

"The crewman put a key in the door and I told him to get down because the flames would puff out. I dropped to my hands and knees and when the man opened the door it was dark inside for a minute and then the flames shot out and knocked the man over me.

"He sprayed the extinguisher inside. I saw rolls of some white material burning and falling on the floor. I then crawled along the corridor about 20 feet to a fire hose on a reel. I turned on the valve but no water came out. The crew member had gone.

"With the hose I crawled back to the fire, still waiting for the water to come on. None ever did. By then the flames were creeping along the ceiling."

Church said he got his wife and daughter to safety and his other daughter escaped by herself. He said he heard no fire alarm at any time and saw no other crew members.

The information gathered by Coroner Gerber will be forwarded to Toronto for submission at the Canadian inquiry which will begin next Wednesday.

No Objection By Govt. To Freight Rate Boost

OTTAWA (CP) — Transport Minister Chevrier said this afternoon in the Commons he did not believe the government had any right to interfere with the Board of Transport Commissioners' judgment awarding an eight-per-cent freight-rate increase to Canadian railways.

NOT UNANIMOUS

OTTAWA (CP)—The Board of Transport Commissioners, in a majority report, today granted an 8 per cent increase in freight rates.

The new rate increase is in addition to the 21 per cent awarded the carriers March, 1948.

The board said an increase of 15 per cent—rather than the 21 per cent it awarded the railways in a judgment March, 1948—would have been necessary to meet financial needs.

In effect, however, the 21 per cent increase will remain in the rate structure.

Expected to net the railways about $10,000,000 in additional annual revenue, the new freight-rate boost is a temporary measure on the railways' application for a general freight-rate increase of 20 per cent.

The board said it would deal with the application again after the Royal Commission on Transportation and other governmental surveys on railway business complete their findings. This is expected to take place some time next spring.

In a minority judgment, Hugh Wardrope, assistant chief commissioner, recommended an increase of 15 per cent. Mr. Wardrope, who had recommended a boost of 24 per cent in a minority report in March, 1948, on the original application for a 30-per-cent boost, said he felt the award last year should not be altered.

With the new 8 per cent hoist, the board ordered an increase in the rates of coal and coke by eight cents a ton, on top of the 25 cents a ton allowed the railways in the 21-per-cent judgment.

21 Per Cent Jump Too High

Mr. Justice M. B. Archibald, Chief Commissioner, who announced the board's decision, said it was the opinion of the majority of the board that the former 21 per-cent boost should have been only 15 per cent.

This "opinion," which does not change the previous freight-rate structure, had a bearing, Mr. Justice Archibald said, in granting only the 8 per cent temporary increase.

Rates on grain shipments are not affected. They are governed by the Crow's Nest Pass rate agreement.

Three commissioners heard the rates case—one of the most complicated in Canadian history. All provinces — except Ontario and Quebec — appealed against the 21-per-cent boost.

After Newfoundland joined Confederation it linked itself with the provinces in the battle against any new increases in carrier charges.

NEWFOUNDLAND'S VIEWS

Commissioner H. B. Chase, concurred with Mr. Justice Archibald in the majority decision. Mr. Wardrope, the third commissioner, said in his opinion the original 21 per cent hoist should not be changed and that the roads should have been granted an additional 15 per cent in the new 20 per cent application, together with an increase in coal and coke charges of 15 cents a ton.

Wage Increases Big Factor

The 15,000-word report said the board was convinced the railways had established a case for a rate increase in view of "a substantial increase" in operating costs since the 21 per cent boost was granted.

One of these operating-cost increases had to do with the 17-cent-an-hour wage hoist granted the railway workers in July, 1948, to forestall a threatened general strike. The railways argued that the wage increase—amounting to some $75,000,000—eliminated revenue advantages they might have obtained from the 21 per cent award.

EFFICIENCY, INCOME

The board said it did not believe it "fair" that the railways maintain "a high rate of efficiency" without providing them with additional sources of revenue, pending investigations of the Royal Commission and other governmental inquiries.

Mr. Justice Archibald, former Exchequer Court and Nova Scotia Supreme Court Justice, noted in the judgment that "further proof and revision of much of the evidence and many of the exhibits will be required before a final determination can be made with respect to this application."

"In the meantime, however, I am of the opinion that the railways are entitled to some relief."

He continued:

"After taking into consideration the revision of the decision of the 21 per cent case . . . and after consideration of the actual estimated and probable results of railway operations for 1948 and 1949, I think it reasonable and proper to authorize a general interim increase in the freight rates in effect on July 27, 1948, of 8 per cent; and to increase the rates on coal and coke by eight cents per ton."

The Vancouver company won the contract with a tender of $542,157.

The 100 new houses which City Council approved early in the summer will be built on city lots on a fixed taxation basis until sold.

Most of them will be built in the northeast area of the city, but there will be no large block of the houses. The lots are scattered.

Court Calls For Data On Winners In Sweepstakes

Information as to who won the two $1,000 first prizes and the two $500 second prizes in the last two Canadian Mutual Transportation Association sweepstakes was sought by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city court today from Frank G. Hilton, 36, of Charlton Avenue, who pleaded guilty Monday to unlawfully conducting the sweepstake. He is still free on $500 bail.

Magistrate Hall remanded Hilton to Monday for sentence, noting that he still wished counsel Joseph McKenna to provide this information.

While Hilton was originally to be sentenced today, Magistrate Hall put some questions he wished cleared up which resulted in Mr. McKenna and his client conferring.

The magistrate wished to know how many C.M.T.A. sweepstaks Hilton had conducted. Counsel said two were involved during the dates on the charge. Mr. McKenna said he was unable to tell the court judge how much money had been paid out and how much had been received, also that the names of the last two $1,000 first prize winners and two $500 second prize winners in the lottery.

QUERIES RECORDS

Magistrate Hall said that he could not understand why Hilton did not know the names of these people. "At the moment it is difficult for me to see how he pays out large sums of money without having any record as to who the sums were paid to," he said.

Mr. McKenna said the replies he had given "were my instructions."

Magistrate Hall said he was giving the remand to give counsel opportunity to secure the data requested.

"I am afraid I will not be able to provide that," said Mr. McKenna, who also noted that he had learned there may be one or more further charges laid.

The record on Hilton from Ottawa, as read by Claude L. Harrison, showed no previous offences pretaining to sweepstakes.

Doubtful honor of being the first person to fall flat on his back on the first ice in the rink went to good-natured Walter Luney of Luney Bros. & Hamilton Ltd., contracting company which completed construction of the arena. Ice will be removed for opening ceremonies.

U.S. Steel Workers Agree To Further Bargaining

PITTSBURGH (UP) — The C.I.O. United Steelworkers accepted President Truman's proposal for "earnest" bargaining with the basic steel companies today and postponed a threatened walkout until Oct. 1.

The truce extension came as 500,000 basic steel workers prepared to walk out Sunday and wildcat work stoppages already were breaking out in the Pittsburgh district.

C.I.O. President Philip Murray wired President Truman that the "union will extend the period for continued work and operations under the terms of the collective bargaining agreements now in effect" and "will immediately meet in collective bargaining sessions with the various companies for the purpose of attempting to conclude a mutually satisfactory agreement" before the new deadline.

Murray's wire followed action by the union's 170-man wage policy committee authorizing resumption of negotiations with the steel companies.

No member of the firm's personnel appeared, but Mr. McKenna said he had been instructed to represent the firm. Claude L. Harrison, city prosecutor, agreed that such a procedure was legal.

Civil Servants Need Bonus Says Association Official

E. P. O'Connor, secretary-manager of the B.C. Provincial Government Employees' Association, said today that a larg group of provincial civil servants need the cost of living bonus which the association claims now is due under an unwritten formula.

Replying to a story which appeared in the Victoria Daily Times Wednesday night final edition which suggested that certain civil servants were considering provision of a five-day week and longer holidays in lieu of the latest cost of living bonus, Mr. O'Connor said in Vancouver:

"If this report is authentic it appears to me to be inconceivable that certain top flight civil servants would take bread out of the mouths of the lower paid groups, particularly in view of the fact that many of these top flight civil servants have received basic increases ranging from $25 to $75 a month within the last few months.

"They have also had the range spread from the minimum to maximum reduced in many cases to four and three years where lower paid groups are still on the nine-year spread.

"Many of our low paid employees who are married and with families to support are taking home approximately $170 to $180 a month. These people certainly need the adjustments under the cost of living bonus formula."

Johnson Says Federal Plan May Solve B.C. Housing Lack

Premier Byron Johnson said this afternoon he believed the federal government's housing scheme, announced in Ottawa Wednesday by Reconstruction Minister Winters, would go a long way toward solving British Columbia's housing problem.

Returning to his office here after a tour of the Cariboo and Peace River areas, Mr. Johnson received a letter from Mr. Winters outlining the proposed federal scheme. The Premier described the scheme as an "excellent scheme."

"I don't know any reason why when they have passed the legislation that something can't be worked out," he said. "We can work something out to solve our housing problems."

Later he said the scheme appealed to him very much.

"I think the Dominion is to be complimented in lowering the payments as far as they have. It will go a long way to meet the housing problem."

Mr. Johnson also indicated that British Columbia would co-operate with the federal government in working out proposals to make it possible for Canada to amend her constitution without referring the question to the British parliament.

"Certainly we will co-operate with the Dominion as far as the conference," he said.

Reds Of China, Russia Work Together, U.N. Told

NEW YORK (CP) — The Chinese Nationalist government today charged for the first time in the United Nations that Russia and the Chinese Communists are working hand-in-hand.

She called on the United Nations Assembly to act quickly to prevent Communism from engulfing China and the entire Far East.

China's chief delegate, Dr. T. F. Tsiang, told the delegates of 59 countries that the North Atlantic pact has halted the flow of Communism across Europe, but that there is no such barrier in the East.

"The Chinese Communist party," he said, "is an integral part of the international movement. It is as fanatical as Communists elsewhere. Its propaganda is always in tune with Moscow propaganda. Its action is always in step with Moscow's action."

Tsiang spoke less than 24 hours after the Chinese Communists proclaimed at Peiping the establishment of a Communist people's republic of China.

UNIONS AND REDS

AS IT IS just about a year since I sat in—as a guest spectator—at the annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, I have been following the proceedings of this year's gathering in Calgary with more than a passing interest.

Last September, the huge conclave of delegates from trade unions in all parts of Canada, together with representatives from British and American affiliates, was held in the Sirocco, View Street.

And it was there that for three days I watched, from the sidelines, the tactical manoeuvres of the mere handful of Communist-inspired unionists and their effect upon the deliberations of that great body.

VOCAL AND VOCIFEROUS

AS I WROTE at the time, it was frightening to see what a tiny but meticulously organized minority could do in a gathering of some 900 delegates, most of whom were apparently oblivious to the menace.

It was the Red element which consistently lined up solidly at each of the six microphones, there vociferously to put forward their biased point of view, punctuated by loud applause from their small, but well-distributed and well-organized "claques."

With the result that, to the uninitiated, the impression was given that the whole gathering was in accord with the sentiments expressed by that fractional Communist faction.

ALIVE TO THREAT

FORTUNATELY for the trade union movement—and for Canada—there were others present who were fully alive to this threat to the unity and well-being of union members in particular and the public generally.

And at Calgary, they demonstrated that they, too, have learned a lesson. By organizing their efforts and enlisting the support of other anti-Communists they have finally purged the movement of the most dangerous element—and done it not in the totalitarian sense of purging but by the democratic weapon, the vote.

In this respect, Canadian unionists are following a similar pattern to their fellow-workers in Britain—the birthplace of the trade union movement—who have been waging an all-out war against the Communists.

SIMILAR SITUATION

OVER THERE, too, disruption and dissention has been caused among the workers by a mere handful of those who pay loud lip service to Communist ideology, yet, strangely enough, show no hankering, but a curious reluctance, to go and live in the country where it is in full operation.

Authoritative sources claim that while probably over 90 per cent of the 8,000,000 trade unionists are anti-Communist, these are not the vocal ones. As a London writer, "Adelphi," puts it:

"It is the small rump of Communists who become the shop stewards, the factory agitators, and who form an unduly high proportion of the delegates to the conferences. In the result millions of anti-Communist workers find they have Communist spokesmen."

CANADIANS, TOO

ADELPHI explains the situation in terms which apply just as forcibly to Canada:

"It arises, of course, from the fact that the average British workman cannot be bothered with all the intrigue and complication of being a union office-holder. He leaves that to the 'clever fellow,' the barrack-room lawyer who likes the sound of his own voice."

The Communists in our midst are just as quick to exploit the apathy of the Canadian unionist who, because he is such a decent fellow, either gets "fed up with the gassing," as one of them put it to me, and goes home early, or doesn't trouble to go to union meetings at all, more's the pity.

Opinion Of Board Not Favorable To B.C. Pipe Line

OTTAWA (CP)—On the heels of its first rejection of an application for a gas or oil pipeline out of Alberta, the Board of Transport Commissioners today prepared to consider an alternative proposition.

The board has granted two applications involved in a crude-oil line from Alberta to Superior, Wis., but on Thursday rejected an application of the Wescoast Transmission Co. Ltd. to construct a natural gas line from Athabaska, in northern Alberta, to Vancouver and nearby United States cities.

Mr. Justice M. B. Archibald, chief commissioner, announced the rejection Thursday on the ground the company had not given evidence it could handle the job.

Particularly, he said, it was not clear that sufficient oil reserves to support such a line existed, and there was no indication the Alberta government would grant a license to export the gas.

He turned down the application with the proviso the company might ask instead for an adjournment until Dec. 12, when it would have to have a clearer case.

However, Senator J. W. de B. Farris of Vancouver, counsel for the company, of which he is a director, urged the board to consider an alternative before resuming study this afternoon.

He sought to have the board immediately consider the application "in part" as it affected British Columbia — in other words, to consider granting permission to build a line from just inside the British Columbia boundary to Vancouver and points south. This would eliminate any objection raised by Alberta's disinclination to grant an immediate license.

At the same time, Senator Farris asked that the original application should not be thrown out, so that eventually the company might complete the line to Athabaska.

FARMER-AVIATORS

RITZVILLE, Wash. (UP)—The modern wheat farmer who uses his own airplane to spray his crops is a crack flyer, says Robert White, secretary of the Washington Flying Marmers' Association. Spraying a field where it's necessary to hedge-hop on a flight is a lot different from flying at a high altitude, White said.

Prelate Says Tomb Of St. Peter Found

SOUTHAMPTON (AP) — The Roman Catholic Archbishop of New Orleans said today the remains of St. Peter have "definitely" been found in a tomb in St. Peter's basilica in Rome.

Most Rev. Joseph F. Rummel spoke to reporters just before he boarded the liner Queen Mary for New York after a pilgrimage to the Vatican.

There is an old Roman Catholic-Protestant controversy over the place of St. Peter's death. L'Osservatore Romano, the Vatican newspaper, has said that Christians believes the Apostle to have died in Rome, until "Protestant controversy cast doubt . . . without, however, indicating any other place."

NO STATEMENT

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A spokesman for the press office of the Vatican said today he could neither confirm nor deny the report by Archbishop Joseph F. Rummell of New Orleans that the remains of St. Peter had been found in Vatican excavations.

Proposal To Move Farm Surpluses To Shortage Areas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The proposal of a United Nations' official to create a $5,000,000,000 world food agency to help move farm surpluses to shortage areas won a favorable reaction today from two U.S. senators active in agriculture.

Senator Edward Thye (Rep.-Minn.) told a reporter it has "excellent possibilities." Senator George Aiken (Rep.-Vt.) called it "a good idea."

Both Thye and Aiken are members of the agriculture committee. Anothr member, Senator Clinton Anderson (Dem.-N.M.), withheld comment on the proposal, although expressing concern about growing surpluses of United States farm products.

Anderson, former Secretary of Agriculture, said he would introduce immedoately a resolution calling for a committee study of ways to stimulate exports of United States farm surpluses.

The plan for a world agency to aid international trade in agricultural commodities was advanced Thursday night by N. E. Dodd, director-general of the United Nations' Food and Agriculture Organization.

Must Move Monkeys From His Apartment

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack W. Crawford, a 59-year-old chef, wept Thursday after a judge had told him: Get rid of your monkeys or go to jail.

"Heck," Crawford sobbed on the steps of the criminal courts building, "I've only got five monkeys—four rhesus and a capuchin.

"There's plenty of room for all of us in my apartment.

"Next thing you know, the law will be taking people's dogs and cats away from them."

But Magistrate William E. Ringel didn't see it that way. "The law," he told Crawford, "is the law. It says you must not harbor wild beasts. Monkeys are wild beasts."

So Ringel imposed a five-day jail sentence—suspended on condition that the monkeys be removed from the city or put in a zoo. The charge was violating the city sanitary code.

Central Figure In Teapot Dome Oil Scandal Returns

BOSTON (UP) — Henry M. Blackmer, 80-year-old Colorado multi-millionaire who exiled himself for 25 years to escape questioning in the Teapot Dome scandal, was hospitalized today, unable to return to Denver to face the music.

Doctors refused to disclose the nature of his illness, or say when he might leave.

Blackmer and his wife Kaja, a Norwegian opera singer he married 20 years ago, arrived at Logan airport from Paris Wednesday. They gave their name only as Smith and it was several hours before their true identities were learned.

Blackmer voluntarily became a man without a country rather than testify at hearings in to the oil frauds during the administration of President Warren G. Harding which sent Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall and oil magnate Harry F. Sinclair to jail.

Pleads Not Guilty To Attempted Theft

A plea of not guilty was entered by Peter Feschuk, sailor, in city police court today when charged with attempting to steal a car of over the value of $25, early this morning. He was remanded to Monday for trial. He is alleged to have attempted to take a car owned by John A. Wightman, 422 Quebec Street.

FUNERAL FRIDAY—Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2 o'clock at the Anglican Church, Cobble Hill, of the two little sisters, Wendy Jean and Angela May Peterson, who lost their lives Tuesday in a fire in their Shawnigan cabin home.

An inquest will be conducted by A. E. Green at 2.30 this afternoon at Hirst Funeral Parlor, Duncan, into the tragic death of two-year-old Wendy Jean Petersen and three-year-old Angela May Petersen, only children of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Petersen, who died as a result of the fire which consumed the Shawnigan Lake two-room frame cabin Tuesday night.

Wendy died in the fire, but her elder sister was rescued through the combined efforts of the mother, a war bride, and E. Brandson, step-father of Peter Petersen. Angela, however, died as a result of severe burns and shock in King's Daughters' Hospital at 1.30 Wednesday morning.

Both Mrs. Petersen and Mr. Brandson suffered burns in their heroic efforts to rescue the two trapped girls. They could not penetrate the wall of flame which destroyed the cabin home in a matter of minutes.

The bereaved mother this morning reported that the funeral service for her daughters will be held at 2 Friday afternoon at the Anglican Church, Shawnigan, Rev. E. M. Miller officiating. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

The belief is that the fire was started by the two children playing with matches.

Alternative Plan To Cost Bonus For B.C. Civil Servants

Alternatives to the proposed payment of a further cost of living allowance are being discussed by some provincial civil servants, according to reports today.

The B.C. Provincial Government Employees' Association has requested the provincial government to pay a bonus amounting to 10 per cent of basic wages with a maximum of $16 per month to cover the latest 12.5 per cent rise in the cost of living index. According to the association the government is obligated to pay this bonus under an unwritten agreement.

It is understood, however, that some civil servants, particularly those in the higher income brackets, are luke warm to the bonus provisions and would prefer other considerations in lieu of the increased pay.

According to these reports alternatives are being suggested as follows:

1. That the government provide three weeks' annual holiday to employees of less than 10 years government service, who at present receive only two weeks' holiday.

2. That those currently entitled to three weeks' annual holiday receive four weeks.

3. That the government, instead of paying the latest bonus, institute a five-day work week for provincial government employees.

Proponents of these alternatives claim, it was reported, that the five-day work week and longer annual holidays are the trend in industry and business today and the government should recognize this trend.

H. Gordon Moore, president of the B.C. Government Employees' Association, which represents the majority of the government's estimated 8,000 employees, on the other hand said today that he had heard nothing of these discussions.

He said that they could not have been discussed at a meeting of the association here since no meeting had been held in Victoria by the association since the bonus became due earlier this month.

Mr. Moore reported that the provincial cabinet, which must rule on the civil servants' application, might conceivably consider the question on Friday. The question, it is understood, has been delayed pending the return of cabinet ministers now out of the city.

Toronto Paper Claims Noronic Arson Probed

TORONTO (CP)—The Daily Star in a newspage story today said a secret inquiry at the Ontario fire marshal's office was investigating the possibility of arson in connection with last Saturday's fire aboard the cruise Ss. Noronic in which at least 132 persons lost their lives.

The Star said at least two crew members of the Canada Steamship Lines vessel had not been located by investigators.

MAY NEVER KNOW

TORONTO (BUP) — Canada Steamship Lines said today the number of persons missing and unaccounted for in the Noronic fire may never be known.

The fire last Saturday killed 130 passengers, of whom 71 have since been identified, according to the Canadian Red Cross and morgue officials.

Although the ship's manifest listed 685 passengers, a company spokesman said not all of the passengers actually aboard were registered; neither were any children who may have been aboard at the time.

It was believed several of the passengers had guests aboard the once-palatial cruise steamship while she was docked here when the fire broke out.

A. C.S.L. official estimated the number of passengers unaccounted for would exceed 50.

Physicians Arrive Here For Parley

Approximately 200 medical specialists arrived in Victoria today to attend the annual convention of the North Pacific Society of Internal Medicine, which opens Friday at the Empress Hotel.

Among the delegates were some leading heart and lung specialists. The delegates are only interested in the practice of medicine for internal diseases as opposed to surgery.

Expect Lively Debate On Freight Rates In Commons

By NORMAN M. MACLEOD

OTTAWA (BUP)—Parliament today was expected to reverberate with protests against the increase of 8 per cent in freight rates granted by the Board of Transport Commissioners to the railroads of Canada.

The objections were expected almost before the ink was dry on the board's order. Members on both government and opposition benches expressed strong objection to the across-the-board rate increase.

Gordon Isnor, veteran Liberal M.P. from Halifax, recognized as spokesman for maritime members, commented:

"This appears to me, as an eastern Canada member, to be just one further addition to our existing handicap in meeting competition with the central Canada provinces."

John G. Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative M.P. for Lake Centre, Sask., and one of the most consistent crusaders in the Commons for freight rates equalization across the Dominion, told the British United Press he intended to carry today's judgment of the transport board to the floor of the House in an address he was scheduled to deliver in the Throne Speech debate.

"While I recognize the need of the railways for operating revenues," Diefenbaker said, "an across-the-board increase such as has been approved today doesn't deal with the basic problem of our freight rates structure. Instead, it simply intensifies the discrimination against the prairie provinces."

C.C.F. Leader M. J. Coldwell said he would ask the government to give both the Commons and the provincial governments an opportunity to discuss the freight rate increase before it went into effect.

"I feel there should be no increase in freight rates until all discrimination in this matter has bene rmoved," he said. "At present, there is considerable discrimination, particularly in the western provinces."

Two Sailors Sent To Prison 18 Months

LONDON (CP)—Two Canadian seamen were convicted today of maliciously inflicting grievous bodily harm on a couple of their shipmates. Each was sentenced to 18 months' imprisonment.

The two, Gerald Doucette of Dartmouth, N.S., and Allan McIsaac of Harborview, N.S., had pleaded innocent.

Four co-defendants — Robert Easton, Vernon Walker, Arthur Fisher and William McPhedran —were acquitted. They also are Canadian sailors.

The case, heard at the Old Bailey, arose from an incident in a London pier-side tavern during the last days of the Canadian Seamen's Union strike which tied up the port last July. A group of men allegedly invaded the "pub" and beat up William Bell of Chatham, N.B., and Donald Hudson of Fort William.

Sentencing the two convicted men, the judge said they must learn that in Britain "next to cold steel the use of broken bottles is regarded as the most despicable."

Conclude Agreement

The Labor Relations Board reported today that a settlement had been reached in a dispute between Stewart and Hudson, Victoria, and the Shinglers' and Roofers' Section of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America Local 786.

The board said that the employer had agreed that during the completion of current contracts the company will pay wage rates up to $1.55 an hour for a 40-hour work week. Any employees previously laid off will be rehired.

R. G. Clements, Vancouver, conciliation officer, assisted the parties in reaching agreement.

Deny Rumors On Devaluation

LONDON (Reuter) — Authoritative quarters here today denied London newspaper reports implying that the decision to devalue the pound was taken by Prime Minister Attlee without consultation with Sir Stafford when the latter was ill this summer in a Swiss nursing home.

It was authoritatively reaffirmed that the decision on devaluation was taken unanimously by the cabinet at its meeting Aug. 29.

Political observers say that the view of the Prime Minister and Foreign Secretary Bevin may have weighed considerably with the Chancellor in his reversal of policy.

Conservative Leader Winston Churchill's "shadow" cabinet met Wednesday night but has not drawn up any censure motion for the debate.

WEST VANCOUVER (CP) — The B.C. Electric Company Wednesday night offered to purchase the Blue Bus Lines' franchise for $250,000.

The municipal council will ask the ratepayers to vote on the proposal Oct. 29. Alternative is a municipal refinancing plan which would cost $100,000.

MOUNTING FIRE COSTS

IN VIEW OF THE COMPLAINTS THAT have come from various sources in Saanich this year over the inadequacy of fire protection in the municipality, the announcement by Reeve E. C. Warren of plans to speed the construction of a new firehall will doubtless be greeted with considerable satisfaction by his taxpayers. It should be apparent, however, that the cost of construction and purchase of equipment is in the nature of a down payment. Maintenance of the station and wages of additional firemen required to man it will add to the charges against the residents.

It seems logical, in consequence, to wonder why proposals for an amalgamated service have not been explored more fully. Location of the new hall may be required to serve a specific area. At the same time, the public will scarcely lose sight of the fact that essential as fire departments are, they are often inactive. Could not the entire region of Greater Victoria be protected more satisfactorily by one unified system including equipment and personnel that could be shifted, as the need arose, from one district to another in the manner in which substations in the city co-ordinate with headquarters in the event of a conflagration?

Increased settlement requires increased coverage, it is true. But are the people of Greater Victoria getting the most for their money when each municipality maintains its independent department?

BREATHING PERIOD

THE ELIMINATION OF "ORGANIZED guerrilla resistance" along the northern borders of Greece, as reported by the United Nations special commission charged with investigation of international aspects of the "civil" war, should do much to restore that country to a more stable condition and open the way for democratic reforms unlikely to be inaugurated in the stress of conducting armed campaigns. It is true, of course, as the commission points out, that this does not mean that the war is ended. Roving rebel bands are still in existence. Guerrillas who have been driven across the Albanian border probably will reform their units and return, as they have done on previous occasions. But it seems evident that the major task of the Greek army has been completed. The isolated activities to come should not occasion them so much difficulty as have pitched battles in the past.

In regard to Albanian interference and aid to the rebels, the Greek government already has announced that firmer measures, including the use of armed force, will follow any additional trans-border incidents. The United Nations commission has confirmed that Greek troops have, on occasion, been fired upon from the Albanian side, while arms and supplies have reportedly been marshalled in Albania for use against the Greeks. Greece has given fair warning that the situation has now reached the point of constituting a grave "threat to peace," and the United Nations authorities have charged Albania with being "primarily responsible" for this state of affairs. The time would now seem opportune for the General Assembly to take some positive step to protect Greece from further surreptitious incursions by her Communist neighbor. Membership in the global organization should guarantee at least that much assistance.

DUPLESSIS AND SWEEPS

THE SPATE OF LETTERS WHICH comes annually to this newspaper advocating action to legalize sweepstakes in aid of hospitals or deserving charities apparently indicates a belief among Greater Victorians that lotteries promise a satisfactory means of raising funds for needy causes. It should be noted, incidentally, that publication of such correspondence invites replies from thoughtful individuals who present cogent argument against such proposals. On the basis of volume, however, writers favoring "sweeps" seem to be in the majority.

That condition will doubtless have been responsible for wide interest in the report from Chicoutimi, Quebec, of Premier Duplessis' intention to introduce legislation at the next session of his Legislature that would authorize a specific lottery to provide funds for educational purposes. His announcement has brought forth opinion from authorities in Ottawa to the effect that they can recall no conditions under which lotteries can be made legal by provincial action. Certain clauses of the Criminal Code cover the issue, and amendments would be required to overcome statutory obstacles.

A moral objection might be raised on the grounds that sweepstakes are not the proper way to raise funds for education. That argument would be stronger, however, if provinces did not permit betting, through authorized channels, on horse races and then collect their percentages from the wagers that are made. After all, is there any substantial difference between collecting revenue from authorized gambling at a race track and taking money directly from subscribers to a sweepstake?

One of the more practical objections to using lottery revenue for maintenance of essential services, of course, is that the returns may be too indefinite. In the event of low ticket sales sufficient funds might not be obtained for the job required to be done. Moreover, a certain measure of irresponsibility might be expected in the use of "chance" money thus collected.

On the other hand, it is apparent that a very large number of people want to chip in their dollar to a pool on the outside chance of winning a small fortune. And if their dollars fulfill a useful purpose, they are all the happier. True, it is against the law. But the public in general regards the breach as something less serious than the misdemeanor of a small boy stealing an apple from an orchard. When breaking the law reaches that low assessment, revision of the Code merits study. Mr. Duplessis, with whose views on many subjects most Canadians do not agree, has, in the sweepstake issue, raised a point on which he may expect a very considerable volume of public sympathy and support.

SINKING THE SHIP

IF STRIKE THREATS INVOLVING AS many as 2,000,000 workers in the United States are carried out, that country would appear to be in for an artificial, deliberately-contrived depression in a major portion of its industrial life. With 480,000 coal miners off the job, idleness has spread to more than 25,000 railway workers. A strike of 1,000,000 C.I.O. steelworkers is scheduled for Saturday midnight unless management accedes to President Philip Murray's requests; 115,000 Ford employees have given notice of their intention to walk out on Sept. 29, and other lesser strikes and forced stoppages would be expected to follow quickly.

Such a prospect in the country's major industrial fields is a serious one, and it may call for drastic action by the federal government to avert a disastrous tie-up. Once under way, such a situation may quickly spread, for modern industry is closely integrated—each section supports, and in turn is dependent upon, others. If governmental intervention takes place, there will be little excuse for labor to protest such action as an infringement of group rights and privileges. The nation is larger than any of its parts, and must be protected. The mariner cannot be permitted to show his displeasure with working conditions by sinking the ship. A general strike is an invitation to regimentation, and something that labor would do well to avoid.

DISCRIMINATION

FASHION NOTES AND PICTURES IN this newspaper the other day have again drawn attention to the unfairness of style writers in the discrimination they display between the sexes. One item, illustrated by a cut of two kilties escorting young ladies through the park, described in some detail the costumes worn by the latter. There were delightful bits about the wider lapel, the use of fine worsteds in feminine suiting, precise attention to the accessories of each ensemble, and piquant reference to the rakishly feathered beret of one young woman.

About the men there was the briefest of mention. They had names and regiments only, as far as the writer was concerned. And yet the tilt of the Balmoral bonnet on the males was twice as rakish as the publicized feathered beret. Not the slightest attention was given to the neat roll of the half-hose, nor the fetching fall of their belt-slung purses. Nor was any attention paid to the stout canes, the buttoned tunics, the high gloss on the shoes. The men, evidently, just went along to balance the picture.

Oh for the pen of a Samuel Pepys, or the eloquence of those other dandies of a bygone day! They could make a man proudly conscious of his appearance and restore to him that swaggering confidence inspired by long silken hose, gay doublets, ruffs and plumes that were the hallmarks of a row vanished elegance.

ANCHORS AWEIGH!

IT WOULD NOT BE FITTING TO ALLOW two veteran ships of the C.P.R. coastal service—the former Princess Adelaide and Princess Alice—to leave these shores forever without a word of farewell. Residents of Victoria, Vancouver and Seattle, as well as of Gulf Islands along the route, were familiar with the sturdy vessels, not so large or so graceful as the other Princesses whose work they shared, but equally dependable and equally a part of business and pleasure travel between this island and the mainland.

The Adelaide, now known as the Angelika, sailed for Greece last Saturday; the Alice, rechristened the Aegeon, is scheduled to depart for that country in the near future. Although advanced in age, they no doubt still have considerable service in them, and in the pleasant environment of the Hellenic coast may carry a reminder in the years to come of the tree-clad shores, the rocky islands and the cold blue water of our beautiful Gulf of Georgia.

THE CONTINUING CRISIS

THE CRUCIAL ISSUE, which Sir Stafford Cripps hinted at but treated gently, is how to reap the benefits of devaluation without suffering all the pains. The benefit of devaluation is to become solvent. But devaluation in itself will not balance the accounts unless the painful fact is accepted or imposed that real wages must fall.

That was why Sir Stafford Cripps struggled so long to stave off the inevitable devaluation; why he used the whole power of the British government and of its imperial connections to make the pound sterling worth more in goods than it is actually worth.

HE KNEW that in a modern democratic state, which is committed to a policy of full employment, where labor is fully organized and free to strike, the attainment of international solvency by devaluation is an extremely difficult and doubtful undertaking. For, without extraordinary measures of help from the creditor countries, particularly the United States, real wages in Britain must fall if the devaluation is to provide more than temporary relief—while the shorts cover up and the immediate bargains are bought up, and before prices, wages and production costs in Britain catch up with the devaluation.

Sir Stafford Cripps used as "a simple example" an English motor car exported to the United States on which the price is 300 pounds sterling. At the old rate of exchange that car cost $1200 in the United States. At the new rate it would cost $840. Presumably more cars can be sold at the lower price than at the higher.

SO FAR SO GOOD. But what needs to be noted is that in order to earn as many dollars as before the devaluation more cars have to be produced and sold—nearly 50 per cent more. Where the sale of one car earned $1200, it is now necessary to make and sell one and a half cars to earn the same $1200. That means that the real wages of British producers have fallen. And yet in their dollar earnings they are still where they were before. They work harder. They get no more pay. And they earn in dollars only what they earned before.

But the essence of their problem is that the same dollar earnings are not enough. They have to earn not the same number of dollars but more dollars than they earned before. So they must make and sell more than one and one-half cars for the one they were selling, and still they must not expect more pay for the increased work.

BUT IF THEY demand more pay for the extra work, the price of the car cannot be kept at 300 pounds sterling. If they are able to insist on earning as much as they did before the devaluation, the price of the car will rise to about 430 pounds sterling. They will then be back where they started. They will sell only as many cars as they can sell for $1200. The effect of the devaluation in promoting dollar earning exports will have been cancelled out.

The critical question, therefore, is how much of a reduction in their real wages British labor will accept, and what can be done to cushion the impact of their losses.

IN THE NINETEENTH century before governments were committed to full employment, while labor was not strongly organized, the reduction of real wages would not be something that had to be accepted consciously. It was not something against which governments felt impelled to take measures of compensation. The reduction in real wages would be imposed by the facts of life—by a rise in prices that prevented people from consuming as much and by unemployment which prevented the workers from bargaining successfully for higher wages.

It may well be that in some countries of the sterling area this is the way devaluation will work out a balance in the international accounts. The political risks will be serious. But in Great Britain, as Sir Stafford Cripps said, and was bound to say, the classic consequence of devaluation will be resisted by the power of the government and of the labor movement. Sir Stafford tried to tell the British people that there would be no noticeable and serious reduction in their real wages and their standard of life. The question, therefore, will be whether the benefits of devaluation can nevertheless be achieved.

NOT, I THINK we had better tell ourselves, within the framework of the existing economic policies of Britain, the sterling area, and the United States. For within the present framework of their policies, the devaluation in itself is only a relief, like lancing a boil without curing the infection. None of the hard decisions has been made unnecessary. None of the heavy burdens, which in differing degrees, all the free world must bear, has vanished. The devaluation has registered but it cannot liquidate the continuing crisis which is the aftermath of the wars, the revolutions and the disorders of this dark and barbarous century.

Developed From A Toy

By DOUGLAS LARSEN From Washington

DUE to military security regulations some of the details of the following story cannot be revealed. It involves the inventor of the German V-2 weapon, the incredible manner in which he stumbled onto the idea, his work on its initial development and finally Hitler's part in the project.

SECURITY CLOAK

The man is now in the United States, working for the government. At least he was in the U.S. up until early this summer when a security cloak was suddenly thrown around him—after it was discovered that his part in creating the V-2 was known outside of tight official circles.

Military regulations governing reports on a German scientist brought here for work on military projects say that his name can't be used if it might injure his family or relatives back in Europe, and that any classified work he is doing can't be discussed.

This German scientist is working on classified projects. Thus, where he is employed now or what he is doing can't be told. He does have relatives in Europe who might possibly be injured if his proper name is revealed, so for purposes of this story a fictitious one, Hans, will be used. So much for security regulations.

Here is his story:

In the early part of 1935 Hans was a struggling young physics instructor and father of a healthy young boy. One of his son's favorite games consisted of whittling a point on a straight stick of wood and throwing it into the ground to see how many times he could make it stand upright. Hans' son and the neighbor kids used to play this game for hours and they all became quite skilled at it.

One day as Hans was watching a particularly spirited session he decided that a round, pointed, straight piece of wood had certain unusual aerodynamic properties. It aroused his scientific curiosity and he began making some tests.

PROMISING GADGET

First he cut a smooth version of the toy. He fixed it so he could put a rod through it and still have it swing free on one plane. With this arrangement he got in his car and drove down the road, the pointed stick out of the car window on the rod. As he drove faster the stick tended to plane out and point straight into the wind.

At this point Hans had no idea what this gadget was leading to. It was just a sort of new idea in aerodynamics that interested him.

He finally decided that he had gone as far as he could with his crude experiments of driving along the road with his model stuck out of the window. He took the whole project into the school's laboratory where he taught. It was at this stage that the missile or weapon idea was born in connection with his collection of pointed pieces of wood.

Hans interested a couple of other instructors at the school. By the time war loomed this group of young scientists had the idea of a rocket-like missile pretty well thought out in theory.

As Hans laid out his theory for the revolutionary missile before succeeding German army officers interest mounted in the idea. News of it got to Hitler and he sent for Hans. Hitler gave Hans unlimited money, men and materials to start the tunnel.

NEW WEAPON

It was built, and worked. The tests made possible by the new tunnel proved that a pointed stick with fins was a brand new weapon.

The rest of the story is on the open record. And that is how one of the deadliest weapons in history, destined to revolutionize warfare, came to be born from a child's toy.

Apply The Right Test

By BRUCE BIOSSAT, from New York

A VIRTUAL handful of giant corporations wields dominant economic power in the United States, declares the Federal Trade Commission.

In a detailed report covering 1947, the F.T.C. says the 113 largest manufacturers control 46 per cent of the total capital assets of all U.S. manufacturing firms.

EXTREME CONCENTRATION

"If anything, this measure understates the level of concentration," the commission adds. It goes on to point out that in 13 of 26 important industry groups studied, concentration of control is "extreme." That is, three or less companies hold 60 per cent or more control.

Included in this category are such industries as aluminum, copper smelting and refining, cigarettes, farm machinery, distilled liquors, automobiles, rubber tires and meat products.

The F.T.C. reaches no general conclusions in this report. But earlier this year it cautioned Congress: "If nothing is done to check the growth in concentration, either the giant corporations will ultimately take over the country or the government will be impelled to impose some form of direct regulation in the public interest."

Some deep-rooted questions are stirred by this kind of thinking. And government ought to be slow to indulge in any major tinkering with the economic structure until it has the answers.

The main goal of the American economic system is to produce goods and services to provide us with the highest possible standard of living. The nation regards a good living standard as a basic safeguard of a full, free life for its individual citizens. But in working toward this objective for consuming citizens, the system must not destroy or limit freedom among the producers themselves. For then consumers may eventually suffer.

HARMFUL MONOPOLY

Except under carefully regulated special conditions, monopoly in an industry is viewed as an enemy of freedom among producers. American anti-trust laws are designed to combat it, to break up harmful concentrations of economic power.

But we cannot afford to assume that either concentration of control or great factory size is evil as such. Economists tell us that compelling economic factors dictate that some plants and some companies must be large to attain the greatest efficiency—and hence the greatest value to consumers. Where this situation prevails, small competitors will naturally be at a disadvantage, as will new enterprisers.

In certain industries, the mere nature of the manufacturing process calls for such heavy investment in plant and equipment that small fellows are barred almost from the start. There are few fly-by-nights these days in steel and automobiles, for example.

Furthermore, it may be wrong to suppose that simply because a few concerns have the bulk of the business there is no competition of the sort that benefits consumers. Signs are that many concentrated industries have a high degree of competition within their restricted circle.

OTHER FACTORS

None of this is to defend monopoly or dangerous centralizing of power. Nor to deny the evident advantages of smallness in economic as well as other organizations. It is only to say that those advantages may be over-ridden by other factors of greater meaning to individual well-being and freedom.

What any country wants is the best possible performance from industry, not as recorded on a chart in tribute to cold efficiency but as translated into human satisfactions and liberties.

Mere Pikers

Exchange

Speaking of five percenters, how about the Senators and Representatives from a silver producing state who, through their friendship with other Congressional members and their log rolling, force the Government to purchase silver at a price way over that of the world market? Compared with these gentry the five percenters and influence brokers are pikers.

GLOBAL SURVEY

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

MADAME CHIANG KAI-SHEK still has faith in Nationalist China's ability to cope with the life-and-death crisis created by the southward sweep of the victorious Communist war machine.

She made this statement to me in the course of a long conversation I had with her in New York.

Mme. Chiang has no doubt that the Nationalist forces will defeat the Communist armies in the southern theatre and ultimately will reclaim the territories lost in the north. How long will this great operation require? She doesn't know; she is only sure that it will be achieved.

She feels certain that the people of China as a whole do not believe in Communism or trust it, though many are submissive to it now because of circumstances over which they have no control.

She envisages a new China which will come through moral and spiritual rehabilitation.

She is returning home to resume her place beside her husband in the attempt to make these things come true.

She has absolute faith in Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. She is furious over aspersions cast on him recently in the United States.

My meeting with Mme. Chiang was at the home of her brother-in-law, H. H. Kung; the Chinese statesman and international banker. She has been in the United States for some months on a mission which, I think, may be described as that of unofficial interpreter at this tragic moment in her country's history.

CLIPPED at RANDOM

GHOST OF HITLER

New York Times

It is discouraging that ten years after Hitler began his greatest and most disastrous adventure we should be assailed by doubts and fears, even though we have to acknowledge our own blunders. The men who are taking power in Germany are concededly good men, religious, decent and, within their lights, democratic. They do not want nazism to return in any form, yet they and their opponents in the recent elections learned that the forces of nationalism and racism are still strong in Germany. Hitler's ghost has yet to be exorcized.

MISPLACED MERCY

Edmonton Journal

The Dominion government's action in commuting to life imprisonment the death sentence passed on sixteen-year-old Clifford Allan Newton of Rumsey, will undoubtedly be popular. Agitation for a reprieve was carried on for several weeks in southern Alberta; there was a natural revulsion at the thought of hanging a boy so young. Nevertheless, we cannot help wondering whether the move was wise from the standpoint of public policy. If life imprisonment really meant that in Canada, there would be no problem. But in practice, it usually means that the person involved is kept in the penitentiary for fifteen years or so—sometimes less—and then released. There have been cases where a murderer turned loose has committed another murder, and this is particularly likely to happen with those who have killed without any apparent motive. Ottawa should make clear how it proposes to protect the public against this danger.

COULD TEACH US

Financial Post

Most of us would be pretty shocked to come upon some person making a bonfire with hundred dollar bills. Yet we are seeing this sort of thing in a gigantic way with our forest wealth almost every day and doing little about it. We could learn a great deal from Sweden where the people have done something.

Canada's "productive forest" area is about 10 times that of Sweden's, but our fire loss last year was 500 times greater — 800,000 acres against a mere 1,600.

It is true that weather conditions in Sweden are slightly more favorable for fire protection and also that the forests of that country are not quite so inflammable as ours due to the type of trees and the much better cleanup of debris after the timber has been harvested. But the basic reason for the enormous difference in the two records goes far deeper than any of these.

In Sweden there is widespread public education in forest safety. Here there is much public indifference.

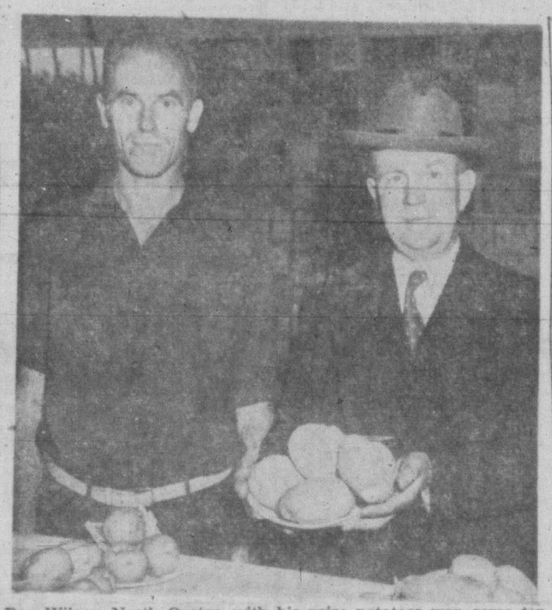
Fruit, Potatoes Praised At Ladysmith Fair

Women's handicrafts included all types of needlework and embroidery. Mrs. L. G. Turner, with six-year-old daughter, Lois, had high praise for the fancywork exhibits.

This 68-pound pumpkin on exhibition proved an attraction for six-year-old Sandra Maunus. The vegetable was too heavy for the child to lift.

Mrs. G. Stringer, Saltair, left, with her friend, Mrs. J. Milroy, admires a bottle of canned fruit in the domestic science exhibits.

The interdistrict agricultural display was won by Cedar district with fine vegetables, fruit and flowers. Diamond district was runner-up in the competition. T. G. Gould, Nanaimo judge, is examining some of the exhibits.



Don Wilson, North Oyster, with his prize potatoes won some top honors in the vegetable section. H. Lomas, Nanaimo, is admiring some of his spuds.

By STAFF REPORTER

LADYSMITH — Residents of the district here proved at the fall show of the Ladysmith Agricultural Society Wednesday their home garden produce equalled in size and in quality those grown in other parts of Vancouver Island.

Judges who viewed the 900 exhibits of vegetables, fruits and flowers, said the quality of the garden produce matched those seen at other localities on the Island. The produce showed a marked improvement over last year's exhibits, they also said.

The fair was officially opened by Andrew Whisker, M.L.A., (Cawichan-Newcastle) at 7.30 p.m. in the Agricultural Hall. Mayor L. Ryan and J. Sheasgreen, superintendent of the Comox Logging Co., were also present.

Rev. C. McDiarmid, secretary-treasurer of the society, was thanked for his work in connection with the fair.

VEGETABLES FEATURED

The fair's most striking exhibits were the vegetables. The fruits came next with the flowers running third. The women's department also had a fine display of embroidery and needlework. The domestic science division had some first class entries.

Schoolchildren also displayed their art work which included posters and paintings. There was also a boys' and girls' garden contest opened to boys and girls 16 years and under.

A feature of the show was a photographic and art exhibition. The pictures included photographs of landscape, marine view, figure study, still life, animal or bird life and local views. There were also some wood carving handicrafts.

Ladysmith gardeners were particularly proud of their potatoes and apples which were exceptional in quality. E. W. White, Department of Agriculture, and T. J. Gould, Nanaimo, judges, described the potatoes as outstanding and the apples as good as could be seen.

KEEN COMPETITION

The two strongest contestants in the vegetable section were Don Wilson, Ladysmith, and H. H. Bazett, Duncan. The two men vied with each other for top honors in practically every vegetable section. In the 10 best vegetable contest, however, Mr. Wilson took first prize. Mr. Bazett was runner-up.

Among those who won first prizes in the apple section were Mervyn Wilkinson, H. Hartley and Mrs. W. Adamson.

The red grapes of Ira Smith won a first prize. Rev. C. McDiarmid also scored a first for his black grapes.

There was keen competition between the Cedar and Diamond districts for the best display of garden produce. The exhibition of the two Ladysmith districts was one of the outstanding attractions at the fair. Cedar district won first prize, edging out its rival by more than 12 points.

The pumpkin entries were also exceptionally good. J. C. D. Gust won a first prize in this section.

The colorful blooms were also a feature of the fair. The fine display of Mrs. E. H. Peerless was an attraction. She won a first prize. J. E. Rumble's pompon dahlias also won top honors.

WOMEN'S ENTRIES

The ladies excelled themselves in the fruit and jam sections. Mrs. R. H. Kerr, Duncan, won top honors for the best individual display of canned fruit. In the domestic science, Mrs. G. Wilson won a first prize for her loaf of white bread.

The women's handiwork proved an interesting attraction for the many visitors. There were embroidered centrepieces, lunch cloth, napkins, buffet covers, fancy aprons, art needlework, knitted lace, berets scarves, socks and sweaters. Some of the articles took many months to complete.

Among those who won first prizes in this section were Roy Gill, Ladysmith, Mrs. Nora Appleby, Chemainus, Miss S. L. Roberts, Ladysmith, and Ruth Campbell.

Other exhibits were the honey, dairy and poultry products, the baked cakes and biscuits, the pickles, jellies and relishes.

Winners of first prizes included: Artistic work, photographs, Mrs. M. Wilkinson; F. R. Sadd, Chemainus; Mrs. J. Little, best photograph; work of exhibitor, start to finish, F. R. Sadd; water color landscape, Mrs. E. B. Hart, Chemainus; oil color, Norma Nash; woodwork, E. B. Hart; shellwork, Ruth Campbell.

Special oil painting exhibit first and second prizes went to Mrs. O. F. Fredheim, Nanaimo. In the women's needlework section, Miss S. L. Roberts, Ladysmith, stood supreme with 10 firsts. Other winners included: Mrs. Roy Gill, Miss Nona Appleby (Chemainus), Mrs. E. Hokkanen, Mrs. B. Heyeldnes, Mrs. Carpenter, Mrs. L. G. Highfield, Miss Eva Highfield, Mrs. V. Dods, Mrs. I. Kerr, Mrs. A. Quayle, Mrs. Ritchie, Miss Ruth Duncan and Miss Betty Schofield.

The Victoria City Council has decided to give those concerned SIXTY (60) DAYS in which to comply with this requirement for the equipping of taxicabs with taximeters.

Want To Keep Trees Standing In Oak Bay Unless Dangerous

Oak Bay Council has decided not to recommend any municipal removal of trees unless they endanger public safety or their roots threaten drains or sewers.

The matter was brought up by Councillor P. A. Moir who stated he, for one, would not bring in a recommendation for municipal removal of the trees unless such conditions existed.

Reeve R. A. B. Wootton said it had always been the municipality's policy not to remove trees unless necessary to safety or to avoid damage such as Councillor Moir had mentioned.

Councillor Moir said many requests for removal of trees had been made by people who bought their home and properties when the trees already were there.

In addition to the loss of beauty in the municipality, the councillor pointed to the considerable cost entailed by the municipality in having the trees taken down.

While moving in support of Councillor Moir, the council also gave municipal engineer A. S. G. Musgrave authority to have such trees removed as were endangering public safety or drains and sewers.

Lease To Kiwanis

Oak Bay Council Wednesday evening decided to draw up a 10-year lease between the municipality and the Oak Bay Kiwanis Club for operation by the club of the Willows Park pavilion. Annual rental will be $200.

There are a considerable number of hedges in Oak Bay whose height constitutes a traffic hazard at corners and the municipality's engineer department has been working throughout the area to cut them down to a more suitable height, A. S. G. Musgrave, municipal engineer, told Oak Bay Council Wednesday evening.

Oak Bay Council Approves Uniform Limit Of 30 Miles

After years of jumping around from one speed limit to another, Oak Bay motorists soon will be able to drive along happily at a consistent 30 miles an hour all over the municipality with the exception of school zones.

Oak Bay council Wednesday night supported a motion to abolish the 20-mile-an-hour speed limit along the recently improved and widened Oak Bay Avenue.

The motion followed a recommendation by the board of police commissioners to increase the Oak Bay Avenue speed limit to 25 miles an hour. The council, however, upped the limit to 30 at the suggestion of Councillor P. A. Gibbs, who also wanted to see Oak Bay speed laws uniform with those of Victoria.

Both Police Chief Hugh Reston and Councillor F. A. Robinson wanted to see crosswalks established along the avenue which would require motorists to stop when the walks were occupied by pedestrians. The police chief suggested these walks be placed where Foul Bay Road, Hampshire Road and Monterey Avenue intersected with Oak Bay Avenue.

The question of these crosswalks was referred to the police commission for investigation and a report.

In the meantime, Oak Bay will write to the B.C. superintendent of motor vehicles for permission to establish the 30-mile-an-hour speed limit along Oak Bay Avenue.

The council approved further recommendations by the police commission that a "blind road" sign be placed on Crescent Road at Penzance, with "no parking" signs placed beyond this sign, and that the Streets and Traffic By-law be amended to prevent parking 24 hours a day on the south side of Cranmere Road between Hampshire and Cadboro Bay Roads.

Oak Bay Scouts Badly Need Larger Hall, Council Told

The urgent need for improved and enlarged accommodation for Oak Bay's scouts and cubs was stressed by Brig. James Lister, secretary of the Committee of the Oak Bay Scouts and Cubs, at a meeting of the Oak Bay Council Wednesday evening.

Brig. Lister appeared before the council at its request following his letter requesting $50 to help pay for material to renovate the converted municipal stable on Cramie Street which is being used as a scout and cub hall and which, said Brig. Lister, "has become very dilapidated."

He said the accommodation was inadequate and that attempts had been made to find another hall. There were at present 175 members of the Oak Bay scout group and another 25 wanting to join, he continued, adding that he estimated the present accommodation was not much more than 25 by 20 feet, with a ceiling only 10 feet high.

"But if we can't get another hall it is obvious we must do the best we can with what we have."

The council generally expressed its concern and a desire to help the group find some other and better accommodation, but it remained for Councillor F. A. Robinson to reveal that a move was now under way to aid the scouts.

After Brig. Lister had left, Councillor Robinson told the council the Oak Bay Community Centre, aided by the Oak Bay Kiwanis Club, now had a fund of $1,000 toward the objective and he believed there would soon be more with additional organizations aiding the project.

Appreciates Work, Council Asks Group Not To Disband

Despite the fact the Oak Bay Friendly Help Society fortunately has had little to do in recent years, Oak Bay Council Wednesday evening moved, in appreciation of the work of the society, that it should be asked to continue in existence.

The motion followed a letter from Mrs. Eleanor Hudson, 759 Newport Avenue, asking the council's advice in view of a Community Chest suggestion that the Esquimalt and Oak Bay Friendly Help Societies be merged in the Community Welfare Council of Greater Victoria.

"As you are no doubt aware, owing to improved conditions and to the greater scope of the government social service agencies, the Oak Bay Friendly Help Society has practically ceased to function," Mrs. Hudson wrote. There are at present only three members remaining.

Appreciation of the work done during the year by Victoria's Mayor Percy George in his capacity as president of the Union of B.C. Municipalities was expressed by members of Oak Bay Council Wednesday evening.

Councillor F. A. Robinson has been appointed by Oak Bay Council to represent it at meetings of the Greater Victoria Celebrations Committee.

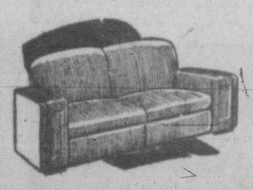
"Mr. and Mrs." dresser—side by side—or separated—with one large mirror or two; commode lamp tables, 4 drawer chiffoniere, vanity dresser and upholstered bench and either single or double bed. Any combination of these is available. You may choose to match your own room.



The Restmore "127" is but one of the new suites now being presented as representing the modern trend without fad or date. The vanity at left is from Suite "124", a really magnificent bedroom grouping at reasonable cost.

Fast-Driving Teenagers To Be Properly Controlled

With their prime objective being to take young speeders off the roads where they menace public safety, a number of Victoria men, all keenly interested in proper racing, met this week to organize an association to be known as the Vancouver Island Roadster Association.

Patterned after similar organizations in the United States, the island association intends to do away with "crazy kid driving" on public highways by getting the youngsters responsible interested in properly-organized race meets.

It is the feeling of those backing the association that when it comes to driving, teen-agers and young men in their 20's will always want to go fast. At the present time, they point out, the only place for these drivers is the public highway.

Here, their attempts to see how high their speedometers will go often result in accidents. The only way to combat this, they feel, is to give the youngsters a place of their own to speed.

EMPHASIS ON SAFETY

Safety will be the keynote of the association's theme. A special committee will see to it all regulations set down by the association are obeyed. Members will be checked also for ordinary good driving habits while off the track.

Any member found violating regular traffic laws will be penalized by the association and suspended from taking part in race meets.

The association as well intends to give members some training in mechanics.

Executive officers of the association say association members will be expected to convert regular stock models for racing purposes. The cars must not be altered so that they cannot be practically used for regular driving as well, however.

Here are the specifications:

1. Cars must have tires of standard tread.
2. Ninety inches or more wheel base.
3. Two comfortable seats.
4. Starter and battery required.
5. Police-approved steering on right or left side of car; no central steering allowed.
6. Full transmission, i.e. complete set of gears.
7. Lights and brakes.
8. Stock car engine; no racing engines allowed.
9. All cars must be licensed.

Officers of the association, elected at the initial meeting earlier this week are Tommy Williamson, president; Verne Bruce, secretary; Jack Smith and Bruce Passmore, safety and eligibility committee chairmen.

Next meeting of the association is set for Tuesday, Sept. 27, at 8 in the British Public Schools Club. All those interested are invited to attend.

Mother Pushes Son From Florida To Detroit In Barrow

DETROIT (AP)—Seven-year-old Dolphy and his mother, who pushed him in a wheelbarrow, relaxed in a Detroit hotel today after a 1,500-mile walk from Florida.

Mrs. Julia St. Clair and her son were given a room Wednesday night after they had been refused accommodation at two other hotels here.

The pair trudged — wheelbarrow and all—into the hotel lobby, followed by a crowd of curious persons. The hotel also stored the wheelbarrow for them.

Mrs. St. Clair and her youngster also met a cool reception before trying the hotels.

Police met Mrs. St. Clair as she trudled her one-wheel cart toward downtown Detroit. They termed her a traffic problem and promptly ordered her over on the sidewalk.

The fact that Mrs. St. Clair had pushed her son, riding the "barrow," the 1,500 miles from Jacksonville, Fla., apparently did not impress the patrolmen.

Cars were lined up for several blocks back of the slowly-plodding "Miss Hungary of 1918."

She wasn't happy.

"I don't feel at home on the sidewalk," complained Mrs. St. Clair. Dolphy dissented, too, with "They took all the strength out of me."

The journey resulted from a promise made when Dolphy was ill with fever. He asked his mother if she would push him in a wheelbarrow to Detroit to visit his grandmother and sister.

She said she would. They left Jacksonville, where Mrs. St. Clair was a tourist home housekeeper, in late June.

Library Head Says Adults Shun Books

CHICAGO (UP) — Slightly more than four-fifths of the adult population read one or more newspapers regularly, according to Bernard Berelson, dean of the University of Chicago's graduate library school.

Of the five major media of communications — books, magazines, newspapers, movies and the radio—books attract the smallest audience, and the radio attracts the largest, Berelson said.

Nearly every adult listens to the radio 15 minutes or more a day, he said, and only one-fourth of the adult population reads one or more books a month.

Berelson also said that almost two-thirds of the adult population read one or more magazines more or less regularly, and nearly half the population see a motion picture once every two weeks or oftener.

Friends On Quiz

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (UP)—A party line telephone can be a big help in answering radio quizzes, Mrs. Mary Holman of Hampton can tell you.

A local radio quizmaster phoned to ask her the $10 question: "Who was the first chief justice of the United States?"

She started to answer, John —." There was a click and a whispered "Jay." Mrs. Holman won the $10.

Later, she said, she split it with her erudite and inquisitive neighbor.

BULL WAS TOUGHER

CLOVIS, N.M. (UP)—A bull and a pickup truck collided here recently. The bull walked back to his pen. The truck had to be hauled in for repairs.

Good Health Report Given For Oak Bay

"One of the healthiest places in the world at the moment," was the informal description of Oak Bay by Dr. T. W. Walker, municipal health officer, in his report to the municipal council Wednesday evening.

In addition to noting a very low incidence of disease in the municipality through the summer, Dr. Walker also reported there had been a decided improvement in health conditions since the cleaning up of the former Willows Fairgrounds.

At the time of his report the health officer said there was only one case of chicken pox and one of whooping cough. There had been quite a number of measle cases during the latter part of August, he reported.

However, he did not think the municipality would be troubled for some time again.

There have been no cases of polio so far this year in Oak Bay.

Young Citizens' Day

Councillor J. V. Johnson will meet representatives of the Victoria Eagles to discuss with them their request that Oak Bay Council allow deserving school children to take over municipal office for one day on Oct. 15, in accordance with Future Citizens' Day.

Minneapolis Honesty

MINNEAPOLIS (UP)—Frank V. Hemstreet, credit man for Powers Dry Goods Co. here, operates an "On Your Honor" vegetable market on the back of his car.

He opens up in a parking lot each morning with the vegetables racked and wrapped in cellophane with the prices market. Then he goes to his department store job. Customers are requested to drop money in a box.

"So far I haven't lost any money," Hemstreet says, "and it proves my theory that Minneapolis people are honest."

Once World's Richest Bride Mary Vanderbilt Weds Again

LONDON (AP)—Cornelia Vanderbilt, once called the world's richest bride, plans to be a bride again.

The granddaughter of Commodore Vanderbilt is to marry a 58-year-old London banker, Vivian Francis Bulkeley-Johnson.

In a formal notice of intention to wed, filed at the Kensington registry office, her age is given as 43. Newspaper morgues indicate she is 49.

Then called the richest girl in the United States—she had inherited $40,000,000 from her father, George W. Vanderbilt of Baltimore—Miss Vanderbilt was married in 1924 to John Francis Amherst Cecil, then first secretary of the British Embassy in Washington.

The marriage ended in divorce 10 years later.

For some time she has lived in London, in the quiet Kensington residential section. Bulkeley-Johnson also lives there.

It will be the second marriage for the pipe-smoking Englishman, too.

Fall Style Colors Mirror To Nature

NEW YORK (CP)—The approach of fall has brought forth a whole new palette of colors and shades.

New fabrics and latest designs appear in such shades of red as flame—preferred by college girls—raisin and cranberry, which are softer, muted tones.

Brown comes in all varieties—a dark brown, the color of humus, brown with a reddish tinge, suntan brown and mocha brown. These are blended, contrasted or mixed in coats, suits and dresses.

A new shade of green, called wintergreen, is verdantly deep, that of fir trees silhouetted against the summer sky.

Camel, the color that goes with anything, especially with vivid contrasts, is very pale. It is likely to prove the most popular of the season.

Returning vacationers are being refreshed by a shade of blue called "spruce blue." It is very much like slate but softer and lighter.

Teal, another popular member of the blue family, is back again, and will be seen in chilly weather clothes of all kinds.

Housemaids Few Store Tells How

SYDNEY, Australia (CP) — Few Australian women have domestic help these days. But to make housekeeping easier they have a home service department in a local store that gives them practical help in every kind of problem that can arise.

The girls in charge are trained dietitians, economists or experts in some special branch of cookery. What's more, they have to be a combination of Emily Post and Dorothy Dix, because they adivse customers about everything from how to seat their guests at dinner to how to keep husbands happy in the home.

Key women of the service is Mrs. Del Cartwright, who supervises a continuous cookery demonstration for an audience of about 100 women.

Now and then visitors from other countries are invited to lecture on their own national cooking, giving recipes for favorite dishes.

High Costs Slow Marriage Rate

JOHANNESBURG (Reuter) —Shortage of housing was the main deterrent to marriage in South Africa until a few months ago—now its a shortage of money.

A survey showed that:

Jewelers are now selling fewer marriage and engagement rings, but reported an increase in sales of rings under $160. Clergymen said that bridegrooms today often consider $4 an adequate wedding fee, whereas they used to pay as much as $20. And there are fewer church marriages, they reported.

Fellowship — An address on fellowship, in which he stressed the value of the missionary spirit "at your own door" and further fields, followed by prayer, was given by Rev. J. M. Richardson of Bath, England, in a talk to the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Women's Missionary Society, Monday. Mrs. H. Warren, president, was in the chair. Mrs. R. H. Cox read the devotional.

In Step With Style

By MARGUERITE DALZIEL

Here in Victoria the feminine population is exclaiming its delight with fabulous London and Paris designs, flown here for a special showing today in Empress Hotel.

But the tables are turned in England.

This week five Canadian designed wool costumes made from Canadian fabric and accompanied by Canadian accessories were flown to London to represent Canada in a world-wide fashion event.

Canadian fashions and woolens are taking their place among 250 woolens and worsteds from more than a dozen countries, with each group of fabrics exhibited against a background peculiar to its country.

Blauer of Montreal designed a beautiful beige wool crepe suit with self scroll-work design on the slightly flared fingertip length jacket which is luxuriously lined and collared with platinum Canadian mink. The suit has this season's new pencil slim skirt.

Deja of Montreal have introduced new tissue-sheer wool crepe to make a black afternoon dress, which perfectly complements the dainty sheerness of the fabric with its soft, feminine lines and full soft skirt.

INDIANS' DESIGN

Representing Canada's wool hand-weaving industry, Merino of Montreal is showing an interesting three-piece, co-ordinated ensemble in new fall navy blue. The tailored topcoat is made from solid navy, while the navy of the jacket has an over-plaid of red and green and the skirt a pin stripe of red and green.

These three co-ordinated wool fabrics were hand-woven by Caughnawâga Indians of Quebec, who have been trained by Merino to weave new, exclusive designs with a truly Canadian flavor.

From Winnipeg, Gerhard Kennedy shows a slim, two-piece ski suit made from brown worsted gabardine mixture. The neat tuck-in-skirt and trimmed-down slacks are an understatement in simple lines, which is Mr. Kennedy's signature for good-looking functional skiwear.

The new Canadian fall shade "caleche" brown was used by Lou Larry of Toronto for a dressmaker suit made from worsted charmaine. The intricately draped collar and versatile princess lines of the long tunic jacket have made this suit a favorite for every age and figure and is an excellent example of the type of suit which has proven very acceptable to fashionable Canadian women.

Canadian mink trims wool crepe suit, with finger-tip jacket.

These fashions are shown side by side with evening dresses from Paris; equisite tropical suitings from Switzerland, gay tartans from Scotland, crepe georgette from Denmark, worsted tweeds from Sweden, hunting scarlets, furnishings fabrics, from England; knitting wools from Wales.

India has sent a beautiful Pashmina shawl, and asan (car rug) from Baroda, an exquisite durrie (carpet) from Sriniketan, and gudma (thick wool blanket) from Rimachal Pradesh.

Finds Rhubarb Pie Is Good Bear Bait

DAWSON CREEK, B.C. (CP)—Take it from Mrs. Joe Dill of this northern community: rhubarb pie is the best bear bait.

A harrowing three hours alone in her cabin with freshly-baked rhubarb pies and two bears made Mrs. Dill reach this conclusion.

Mrs. Dill's rhubarb pies—as so often happens with fruit pies—boiled over in the oven, giving off an aroma of burnt sugar that brought unexpected results.

It wasn't long before two huge grizzles, both with noses sniffing the air, ambled out of the bush towards the cabin. Unarmed, Mrs. Dill used her voice to frighten off the grizzlies.

But two black bears arrived on the scene and paid no attention to shouts or even hot water thrown in their faces. For three hours they circled the cabin sniffing through windows as the pies boiled away. Return of Mr. Dill with a hunting rifle finally drove off the curious bears.

Several members were welcomed and after a brief sing-song, refreshments were served. Dr. A. E. Whitehouse will attend the meeting next week, open to all young people interested, it was announced.

T. L. C. Decides Its Officers Must Take Oath Of Allegiance

CALGARY (CP)—The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada was still belting away at union communism today as it went through the eighth day of its annual convention.

Already it had taken several decisive steps against its Red fringe and there were some indications it might go further and order affiliated unions not to elect Communists to office.

A resolution to this effect, it was expected, would be submitted by the conventions' powerful resolutions committee. Its adoption was looked for.

Thursday, the convention moved against Reds by taking these decisions:

2. That the congress voting candidates for office must take an oath of loyalty to the Crown.

2. That the Congress voting system is to be changed.

While the loyalty-oath proposal was challenged by some delegates, it went through on an overwhelming vote.

There was no right-left division on that issue—some conservative members of the congress objecting to it on the ground that the oath would be useless—but it was indicative of a hardening of the congress' attitude towards Reds in Labor.

Objections to passage of the oath proposal—in an amendment to the T.L.C. constitution—included a suggestion that it would be tantamount to setting up in Canada the Taft-Hartley Act of the United States, which calls for a non-Communist affidavit by union officials.

Victorian Runner-up In Qualicum Golf

QUALICUM—Efe Robinson of Vancouver was crowned men's champion of the 1949 Qualicum Beach Golf Club Tournament here when he defeated Bill Newcombe of Victoria 2 up and 1 to go.

In the women's section, Mrs. J. Lusney of Courtenay, medal-winner, played steady par golf although hard pressed in all her matches to capture top honors. Runner-up was Mrs. L. Goodman of Vancouver.

The Dave McLeod Memorial Trophy for team play was won by the Port Alberni Club, represented by Ron Redman, Doug Bowen and W. Bird. Prizes were presented by Duncan Fraser, president of the club.

No Calendar Change

NEW YORK (CP)—That old school ditty, "30 days hath September," can be used to measure the months for another year at least.

The proposal for a new world calendar was thrown off the agenda of the United Nations' fourth assembly when it came up Wednesday. The United States asked the 14-member steering committee to postpone the item indefinitely.

Hon. L. B. Pearson, Canada's External Affairs Minister, was one of the four-committee members who voted in favor of Assembly consideration of the calendar reform question. But four members voted against it and six abstained.

On way home to Ajax, Main's car developed mechanical trouble, went through a guard rail and over bank.—(SNS Photo)

Odd Fellows' Chief

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Edward M. Sharpe, chief justice of the Michigan Supreme Court, is the new sovereign grand master of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. Delegates to the Odd Fellows' national convention here Wednesday elected Sharpe to succeed Frederick Leon Phelps of Middletown, Conn., as grand master.

Porcupine Invasion

SPOKANE, Wash. (UP) — A very prickly situation is facing police officers. Porcupines have been invading otherwise peaceful neighborhoods, much to the anxiety of residents. Armed with large boxes, the officers stalk their prey and when they get close, slap the boxes down over the "porkies" and lug them off to the humane society for extermination.

List Mayo Brothers Greatest Citizens

MINNEAPOLIS (UP)—Minnesotans regard the Mayo brothers, world-famed doctors, as "Minnesota's greatest citizens of the past century," according to a poll conducted by the Minneapolis Sunday Tribune.

Second to the renowned doctors was Floyd B. Olson, three times elected governor.

Third was Harold E. Stassen, another three-time governor.

Fourth was James J. Hill, the "empire builder" who guided development of the Great Northern Railroad.

And fifth was Charles A. Lindbergh.

Musical Sailing

Stirring martial music echoed in Montreal harbor as the band of H.M. Royal Marines (Portsmouth) played a farewell to Canada from the deck of the Cunard White Star liner Ascania as she sailed for Liverpool. Commanded by Maj. F. Vivian Dunn, M.V.O., A.R.A.M., director of music, Royal Marines, the famous 60-piece band was en route home following its engagement at the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto. After their last performance at Toronto, Maj. Dunn and the band went to Quantico, Va., headquarters of the U.S. Marines, where they presented another concert. Maj. Dunn is shown conducting as Ascania clears the Cunard Donaldson pier in Montreal harbor.

$500,000 Blaze

ROCHESTER, N.H. (AP)—A wooden mill and 1,000,000 board feet of lumber at the W. H. Champlin Box Company was destroyed Wednesday by a mushrooming fire that caused damage estimated unofficially today at $500,000. Firemen said it was "miraculous" that 200 persons working in the four-story main building, where the fire started, escaped.

Diverse Speeches In House Follow Big Announcements

OTTAWA (CP)—The Throne Speech debate continues to be the safety valve of Canada's House of Commons.

As it has been ever since Confederation, the debate provides a perfect opportunity for any member to let off steam on any subject close to the hearts or the pocketbooks of his constituents.

The latitude of discussion in this debate was demonstrated at Wednesday's abbreviated session when members ran the gamut of comment on matters ranging from radio license fees and damsites to prayers and the difficulty of hearing what is said in the Commons chamber.

Rev. Dan McIvor, lusty-voiced Liberal from Fort William, provided the bulk of the diversification.

He wondered aloud, first of all, why the Commons' visitors' galleries couldn't be open to the public during the traditional opening prayers each day.

Then he jumped into the acoustics of the Commons, asking when the long-awaited amplifying system would be available. He wound up on radio license fees, urging careful consideration before they are increased from $2.50 to $5.

Two matters of government policy preceded resumption of the Throne Speech debate Wednesday.

Mines Minister Gibson led off by announcing the government will continue its program of assistance to gold mining until the end of this year despite benefits those mines gain from dollar devaluation.

HOUSING PLANS

Reconstruction Minister Winters then came on with a 2,500-word address on housing. He disclosed the government would assist in a program of reducing down payments on reasonably-priced homes by half.

Housing was also the subject of a Throne Speech address by Ross Thatcher, outspoken hardware merchant who is C.C.F. member for Moose Jaw.

Mr. Thatcher also urged the government to get cracking on construction of the irrigation scheme on the South Saskatchewan River. He said government plans to construct a dam on the river had been an election come-on for years.

Want Playground At Lafayette Park

Oak Bay's Lafayette Park probably will be developed as a park and playground, but any development is expected to be delayed until next year.

Oak Bay Council Wednesday evening received the recommendation of the Oak Bay playground committee that the park be developed to help relieve the need for increased playing space for children.

The committee made the recommendation following a petition from 47 residents in the Lafayette Park area asking for the playground development.

Councillor P. A. Moir said he doubted if anything could be done this year, but suggested the matter be taken up again next year. The recommendation was referred to the parks committee.

Find Eskimo Skull

WILLIAMS LAKE (CP) — A highly-prized anthropological find—an old Eskimo skull—has been discovered at this interior B.C. centre, 150 miles south of Quesnel.

Discovery of the skull indicates Eskimos inhabited the region centuries ago. Further investigation in under way.

The skull was found in a gravel pit by Mrs. E. C. von Engel-Baiersdorf, noted Hungarian anthropologist, and T.P.O. Menzies, curator of the Vancouver Museum. They believe the skull is that of an Eskimo woman about 40 years old.

435 Register To Play In Minor Hockey Loop

Last night was registration night for the city's young puck enthusiasts seeking a berth on a team in one of the four divisions of the Victoria Minor Hockey Association. And as a result of the unusually large turnout, directors will have their hands full attempting to accommodate a total of 435 youngsters.

Prospective hockey stars wishing to enter the junior section of the league, which is open to players between the ages of 18 and 21 years, numbered 122. This was the largest list entering one section. Midget division for players under 16 years had the second largest entry list with a total of 115 and the juvenile or under 18 circuit had an even 100 entrants. The bantam section for players 12 to 14 years was close behind with 98 hopefuls.

Directors Doug Fletcher, Ivan Temple, Don Huckin and Ed Kelpin state there will probably be at least six teams in each of the four loops with possibly more in the sections with the heaviest entry list. Arena Manager Joe Dutkowski announced that the arena would be provided free on Saturday mornings, when many of the league fixtures will be scheduled.

Thunderbirds Out To Improve Grid Rating

VANCOUVER (AP) — With a brand-new coaching staff and 16 returning lettermen, the Thunderbirds hope to make some noise this year in the Evergreen Football Conference.

This is only the fourth year of competition for University of British Columbia in American football and the first for the 'Birds in the Evergreen circuit.

In the past, U.B.C. teams have made up in fighting spirit what they lacked in finesse. Now the school has brought in a pair of experts and expects to move up toward the top of the football totem.

Orville Burke is the new head man. This is the debut as a college coach for the former Ottawa quarterback, who was a collegiate passing star and probably will take the 'Birds aloft in their 1949 offense.

His chief assistant, Hjalmar "Jelly" Anderson, moves north from the University of Washington, where he was an aide on the frosh coaching staff after lettering as an end. Head basketball coach Jack Pomfret also helps with the gridders.

The team got a later start in practice when most of the prospects failed to show until after the Labor Day holiday. Burke immediately threw them into two-a-day practice sessions to round the squad into shape for its Sept. 17 opener against St. Martin's.

Quarterback Bob Murphy is back to captain the 1949 Thunderbirds. The squad has five other lettermen backs and 10 line veterans. About 20 newcomers are pushing the experienced men for places. Heading the list are Roy Sadler, quarterback transfer from Queens University, and Ernie Kroeger, a 220-pound tackle.

This One Didn't Get Away

Guides strain hard on the ropes as they hoist an 857-pound tuna, largest landed at the Sixth International Tuna Cup match at Wedgeport, N.S., onto the scales for the official weighing in. George C. Thomas, Los Angeles, Calif., member of the winning United States team, boated the whopper after a battle of four hours and 40 minutes on the last day of the match. Thomas, who weighs 140 pounds, was almost exhausted after the struggle.—(CP Photo)

Troubled With Weight, LaMotta Looks To Lightheavy Division

NEW YORK (UP)—Weight difficulties which have plagued him throughout his boxing career had middleweight champion Jake LaMotta casting covetous glances today at the light heavyweight title—and a possible future heavyweight championship fight with Ezzard Charles.

Preparing for his crown defence against Frenchman Marcel Cerdan at the Polo Grounds next Wednesday night, LaMotta again was having difficulty making the 160-pound limit. He refused to disclose his avoirdupois but reportedly still had five pounds to shave off.

At 28, the squat, flat-nosed Bronx bull is finding it increasingly difficult to pare down. He could go inside the ropes at a fit 170. So it is that LaMotta, a throwback to such old-timers as Kid McCoy, Jack O'Brien and Sam Langford, who never quibbled about spotting weight to a rival, is looking toward a future in the heavier divisions.

WANTS TITLE SHOT

"I'd like a crack at Freddie Mills for the light heavyweight title," he said as he finished his 66th round of boxing in preparation for Cerdan—and still was five or six pounds over the limit.

"Then, maybe, there'd be a chance for a shot at Charles."

An iron man of the ring, the Bull has been working furiously to take off poundage. And he has vented much of his spleen on his spar-mates. Burry Moore, a 215-pound heavyweight, went one round against Jake in the training gym and had enough. Jimmy Taylor, another target, was sent crashing through the ropes.

It is an old story to the flat-faced human tank with the Gibraltar jaw. Jake has faced a weight problem all his life. That's what turned him to boxing in the first place.

He was a pudgy, 19-year-old grocery clerk, only five feet, eight inches, but weighing 190 pounds, when a customer ordered him:

"Hey, fat boy, pick me out a peck of potatoes."

Nobody ever accused Jake of being overly sensitive. But that crack got under his hide. So the next day LaMotta went to a neighborhood gymnasium and started boxing to reduce. It wasn't long before he was fighting in the amateurs and, after he won 20, the Bronx Italian with the large family decided to turn professional.

Jarring Jake hammered out a minor fortune with his fists as the years marched along, but never could he get a crack at the middleweight crown. Most of the men in his division feared the husky Italian and Jake was forced to fight welters and light heavies. It was a condition which caused him to be known as "the best middleweight in the welterweight division."

Then, suddenly, he was the lone American hope against Cerdan. Rocky Graziano was in exile for failure to report a bribery attempt. Tony Zale had hung them up. So Jake finally got his shot—and won the title in June with a technical knockout in the 10th round.

It almost came too late, that chance. For Jake had quite a struggle making the weight even then. Now it is just that much tougher. Therefore he is peering toward the heavier divisions.

Jake has tangled with light heavies before. Billy Fox knocked him out, but it was a scandalous performance, with LaMotta fighting despite a training injury. And Cleveland fight fans still remember the night Jake had light heavyweight Jimmy Reeves out cold at the bell—and lost the decision. It caused a minor riot which they stopped by playing the national anthem. Thereafter, Jake was billed in Cleveland as the "Star Spangled Banger."

The "fat boy" has come a long way. Now he is determined to go even farther.

Yanks Blow Big Lead; Odds Against Dodgers

Cardinals Favored To Cop Flag

ST. LOUIS (UP)—Time, the odds and the pace-setting St. Louis Cardinals were stacked solidly against the Brooklyn Dodgers today as the teams entered the third and final game of the crucial series, with the National League pennant still waving in the balance.

St. Louis' 1 to 0 triumph in yesterday's day game and Brooklyn's 5 to 0 conquest in the night tilt still left the Cardinals in a commanding position, a game-and-a-half on top.

George (Red) Munger, fortified with three days rest, was manager Eddie Dyer's choice to pitch for tonight's "rubber" tilt for St. Louis. Brooklyn boss Burt Shotton, playing it cagey, refused to say definitely whether Ralph Branca or lefty Joe Hatten would oppose the Redbirds.

"It'll be either Branca or Hatten," Shotton admitted, 'but I won't say which because I don't want to worry him."

Branca, who last pitched and won on Sept. 18, said he was ready and Hatten, suffering from an infected ear, warmed up last night and reported he "felt fine." Branca has won 13 and lost five this year; Hatten has won 11 and lost eight.

Munger has won 15 and lost six.

Local odds-makers took a dim view of Brooklyn's chances tonight and quoted the Cardinals 7 to 5 favorites. St. Louis remained a 6½ to 5 choice to win the National League championship.

FOUR GAMES, ONE RUN

With only seven games remaining to catch the Cardinals, Brooklyn was heartened by the work of its pitching staff, a staff that has yielded but one run in the last four games. The Dodger hurling, best in baseball at the moment, was the standout feature of yesterday's games.

Preacher Roe, a loose-limbed Arkansan of easy grace, hurled an eye-opening two-hitter for his 14th victory last night. His teammates clinched the contest with a five-run explosion in the fourth inning that routed southpaw Harry (The Cat) Brecheen.

Carl Furillo singled to left after one was out. Jackie Robinson, who was ejected from the day game after a run-in with umpire Bill Stewart, walked and Gil Hodges singled to left scoring Furillo. Luis Olmo, "goat" in the Dodgers' daytime defeat, unleashed a resounding triple to score Robinson and Hodges.

Ted Wilks relieved Brecheen and got Roy Campanella on an outfield fly but Olmo came across after the catch. Duke Snider then unloaded his 22nd homer of the season.

Following the contest, Roe gave considerable credit to shortstop Peewee Reese for his fine defensive work. Enos Slaughter and pinch-hitter George Kurowski were the only St. Louis batters to hit safely.

The day game, a thriller from the start to finish, was a pitchers' battle between Max Lanier, who gained his fifth win, and huge Don Newcombe. It was decided in the ninth when Slaughter dropped a double near the left field foul line that Olmo played poorly.

ROBINSON CHASED

Ron Northey then was walked intentionally and rookie Bill Howerton bunted safely. It was at this point that Robinson was ejected after implying, by seizing his throat, that Stewart had "choked up." Joe Garagiola then lashed a grounder off Eddie Miksis' glove for the only run of the game.

Capacity growds of better than 30,000 saw each game and another banner throng was expected tonight.

GLOOM!

After last night's defeat, there was temporary gloom and despair in the Cardinal quarters but it soon evaporated when members shouted:

"We'll get 'em tomorrow, gang!"

Dyer, hitting an optimistic note, said he was "hopeful" that Munger would come through as expected.

Shotton, like Dyer, also was optimistic but remained silent. He said, however, both Branca and Hatten are "ready."

Ralph Kiner got two homers, bringing his season total to 52 and putting him only eight from Babe Ruth's all-time record of 60, but the Pirates still lost to the Boston Braves, 9 to 7.

The Reds beat the Giants, 5 to 4 in 10 innings, then lost a seven-inning second game, 5 to 2, called because of darkness, while in another split doubleheader the Phils beat the Cubs, 3 to 1, then lost, 9 to 6.

Ralph Kiner Ahead Of Wilson's Pace

NEW YORK (AP)—Pittsburgh's Ralph Kiner hit his 51st and 52nd home runs last night to go two games ahead of the pace set by Hack Wilson, who established the National League record of 56 while with Chicago in 1930.

Kiner, however, is five games behind the major league record pace of Babe Ruth, who poled 60 for the 1927 New York Yankees.

Kiner	51-52	145

Wilson played in 155 games in 1930.

Wilson hit his 53rd home run in his 152nd game Sept. 22.

Ruth socked his 53rd in his 143rd game Sept. 16.

Zernial's Home Run Beats Page

NEW YORK (UP)—Not in 24 years as a manager did Casey Stengel ever have a club blow a seven-run lead so he swore today that his Yankees would be "mad enough to win our next two games and then let the Red Sox try to catch us."

Stengel was bristling a little himself as he talked about yesterday's 10 to 9 nightmare defeat to the Chicago White Sox which occurred while Boston was winning an uphill 9 to 6 decision from Cleveland that cut the Yankee lead to two full games.

"If our fellows are as good and mad as I think they ought to be we'll win our next two games with Washington," Stengel said after the Yankee loss. "If they do we've got 'em. If we do we'll win the pennant.

"I've had second division big league clubs and minor league clubs. But not until I get to the Yankees—the best club I ever managed—did I ever see them pull the rug out from under me when we were ahead as much as 8 to 1."

THREE-RUN BLOW

The Yankees lost it in the ninth when pitch-hitter Gus Zernial blasted a three-run homer off ace reliever Joe Page, who was beaten for the first time since Aug. 21 against the Athletics.

"I think if we'd only had a 3 to 1 lead we might have won it without trouble," Stengel said. "Tommy Byrne, who has the guts of a burglar, is pitching good ball but his shoulder started hurting him in the sixth and I decided to take him out.

"Maybe he could have won it, but what is one game if you're going to hurt a pitcher so he can't do any more for you? But being ahead 8 to 1, we think we're in easy and so the boys let down a little. We have a couple of errors in the field and maybe we miss the winning run because a guy goes from third to home with none out on an infield grounder and gets thrown out by plenty of room. If we'd only been a couple of runs ahead he won't take a chance like that."

The Red Sox won their second in a row from the tough Indians, 9 to 6, as Ted Williams broke a seventh inning tie with his 41st homer. Ellis Kinder, entering the game in a relief role, was credited with his 22nd victory. Steve Gromek, the hurler Cleveland owner Bill Veeck predicted would win more than 30 games, was tagged for the Williams homer and his sixth loss against just four victories.

19TH WIN

The Tigers defeated the Athletics, 4 to 1, at Philadelphia on Art Houtteman's four-hitter for his 19th victory. Dick Welk pitched a three-hitter to beat the Browns for the Senators, 7 to 0.

WARWICK RETIRES

REGINA (BUP)—High-scoring forward Grant Warwick of the Boston Bruins says he will not report at present to the Bruin training camp. Warwick says he's retiring temporarily from hockey because of "personal reasons." He did not elaborate.

Coach Says Bombers Better Than Past Record Indicates

WINNIPEG (CP)—That occupational disease known as fumbleitis is plaguing Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Coach Frank (Butch) Larson shook his head sadly today as he ruminated on the trial and tribulations of his club and then advanced a theory that possibly the Bombers wouldn't be too bad if they'd only stop fumbling.

"Why, we've fumbled 29 times in our six league games and you can't win football games that way," stressed the lanky, two-time all-American end from Minnesota.

Larson feels, incidentally, that Bombers are a bit better than their record of one victory in six games would indicate. The quiet-spoken Minnesotan is quick to admit that the team is weak. But he can see a glimmer of improvement and while it might not bode any spectacular triumphs for this season, at least he feels a proper groundwork is being laid for the future.

"If we had three good linemen and a good backfielder we could do all right with this club," said Larson. "Not that I'd predict any championships but we'd win our share of ball games."

Strange as it might seem Larson feels that Bombrs should have come a lot closer than they did in their last game against the Canadian champion Calgary Stampeders. The Bombers dropped that one 20 to 1 but Larson thinks they might even have won it.

Larson has nothing but praise, however, for the way the Stamps operate. He considers them a fine ball club, one able to raise their game to a necessary pitch.

Veeck Invites Pole-Sitter To End Long Vigil

CLEVELAND (UP)—Charlie Lupica, pole-sitting baseball fan, has decided to end his record 114-day vigil next Sunday to accept an invitation to attend the last home game of the Cleveland Indians.

Lupica said a letter from Bill Veeck, Indians' president, had dissuaded him from sitting out the end of the season in the vain hope of seeing the fourth-place Indians cop the American League pennant.

Veeck wrote that the Indians appreciated Lupica's "intense loyalty" and invited him to attend Sunday's game "because it is fitting that you end your long vigil before the many other steadfast fans who will be in the stands."

Lupica said the Indians offered to transport him and his pole to the Stadium so he could spend his last night aloft there, but he said he would rather come down to earth.

"I'm going to come down on Sunday and sit in a box with my wife and four children," he said. "You don't know how tickled I am about ending this pole-sitting. It's been a long, long time."

Dominion Cycle Meet Draws Local Riders

VANCOUVER (CP)—A hardy group of some 35 of Canada's ace bike riders will be off to a flying start today, signalling the opening of the Dominion three-day bicycle championships here.

Eastern contestants took trial spins round the saucer-like Digney Speedway track—venue of the games—today in preliminary tune-ups for the tough grind.

Points compiled in the Dominion meet will count for ratings in the British Empire Games Trials here Oct. 1 and 2.

Western riding aces expect strong opposition from their eastern rivals, spearheaded by a colorful Montreal quartette.

Real Lamothe, Gaston Langlois, Andre Bouvier and Paul Serres—the Montreal squad—haven't yet competed against west coast and prairie riders, but previous performances indicate they will be well up among the leaders.

Jim Tettamanti, husky, 26-year-old Canadian quarter-mile champion from Winnipeg, showed well in a fast track work-out with five other contestants.

Manitoba will be well represented. Besides Tettamanti, the championships linee-up includes speedsters Bill Sim, Eric Oland and Ray Dowse.

MILLMAN HIGHLY RATED

Vancouver's representation will be strong. Trackmen predict Johnny Millman may be the young man to upset the odds. Millman defeated Olympic star Lorne Atkinson of Vancouver in a previous meet here.

Track observers point out that Atkinson licked most of the riders competing in the trials when he won himself a berth on the Olympic bike team at the trials last year.

Ontario stars will include Bill Hamilton, Allan Essey and Frank Ball—all from Oshawa. Toronto is not represented.

The Victoria quartette of Bill Dingley, Alf Mathews, Rickey Sullivan and Malcolm Graham plus a lone entrant from Kamloops—D. A. Jones—all come within the "dark horse" category.

Riders will contest 57 events in all classes. There's ample chance for lesser-known riders of all ages to pull off surprises in both sprints and distance races.

Seek Cage Entries

Although the final date for entries in the various sections of the Victoria and District Basketball Association is Sept. 30, league secretary Tommy Carson requests that teams seeking entry in the men's senior B loop file entries immediately. Only three entries had been received, and it is indicated there will be at least 10 more entries. Applications should be sent to the secretary at P.O. Box 4.

Stars Nip Rainiers; San Diego Moves Up

The Hollywood Stars have assured themselves of at least a tie for the Pacific Coast League pennant, but they had to work overtime to get it.

The situation grew hotter than a day on the equator last night, with second-place Oakland losing to Portland in a 13-inning marathon and Hollywood taking 11 innings to dispose of Seattle.

By the time the smoke cleared, Hollywood was five games up on the Acorns with five games remaining on the schedule. And in both cases it was first-class baseball, even by major league standards.

Bespectacled Gordy Maltzberger, who looks more like an accounting clerk than a baseball pitcher, toiled the full 11 innings for Hollywood, giving up eight scattered hits. Guy Fletcher, Seattle's 23-game winner, went 10 2-3 innings for the Rainiers.

FLETCHER LOSER

Seattle punched across a freak run in the top of the 11th, but Hollywood came back in the bottom half to load the bases. Frank Kelleher singled the first pitch from Charley Schanz, Fletcher's relief, sending in two runs and winninng the ball game, 2 to 1.

At Oakland, the proceedings were even more grotesque, Frank Austin's line drive single in the 13th drove in two runs to give Portland a 6 to 5 victory. Joe Brovia's pinch hit homer in the ninth tied the game up with three Oakland runs. Portland usd three pitchers, the Oaks two.

Hollywood can win the flag outright by winning tonight.

Elsewhere on the circuit, the San Diego Padres edged Los Angeles, 5 to 4, and Sacramento dumped San Francisco, 5 to 3.

Orestes Minoso's long fly scored Bobby Wilson with the winning run in the ninth as San Diego's Kewpie Dick Barrett hung up his 11th triumph of the season.

Walker Cuppers Lead Way In Western Golf Play

ST. LOUIS (UP)—Three Walker Cuppers led 32 players to the tee today in the second round of the Western Amateur golf tournament.

Henry (Skee) Riegel of Tulsa, Okla., Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., and Jim McHale of Philadelphia, the Walker Cuppers, all broke par on the tough Bellerive Country Club course Wednesday in the opening round of match play.

Medalist John (Pick) Wagner of Wilmette, Ill., although winning his match Wednesday, had a rough time and his prospects to advance to the finals dimmed considerably.

Defending champion Riegel was paired with Tom Sullivan of Chicago today.

Stranahan was matched against Donald D. Schock of Akim, O., McHale against Howard Zachritz of St. Louis and Wagner against Missouri State champion Bob Cochran of St. Louis.

Upsets Mark U.S. National Hard Court Tennis Tournament

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—A self-exiled former Czechoslovakian Davis Cup player turned in one of two major upsets in the national hard court amateur tennis tournament Wednesday.

The hard-hitting but unseeded Vladimir Cernik ousted San Francisco's Earl Cochell, third seeded on the domestic list and the sixth ranking U.S. player, 7-5, 6-4.

The other upset was provided by the University of San Francisco's Conway Catton. He defeated the number one Italian Davis Cup player, Gianni Cucelli, 6-4, 6-4.

The victories advanced Cernik and Catton into the quarter finals.

South Africa's Eric Sturgess, first ranked foreign entry, encountered little difficulty in disposing of the number two Italian Davis Cup player, Marcello Del Bello, 6-0, 6-2.

The smooth-stroking South African stylist is considered a prime threat to defending champion Ted Schroeder.

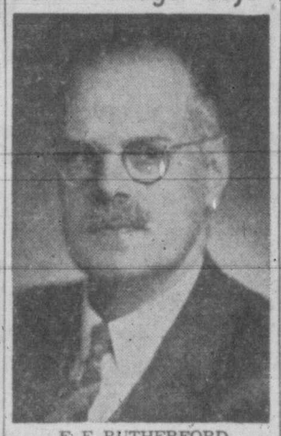
Business Prospers Bank Manager Says



E. E. RUTHERFORD

A possible curtailment of Canadian exports to the United Kingdom as a result of the devaluation of the pound sterling is foreseen by Ernest E. Rutherford, general manager of the Bank of Montreal in charge of the Western Division, here on a three-day visit.

On the other hand, Mr. Rutherford said there was a possibility that Canadian exports to the United States might be stimulated by devaluation of the Canadian dollar. However, he added, imports would be more expensive.

With regard to Canadian business, Mr. Rutherford said it was prosperous, but he warned against over-optimism. He talked of dark clouds in the horizon, which indicated, he said, that Canadian business may be confronted with the necessity for some readjustment.

"Justified long-range optimism must be tempered with health caution regarding the short-term outlook," he stated.

The banker said business activity in Canada at the present time was at a very high level despite recessionary trends in the United States.

"On the basis of latest available information industrial production is, in aggregate, at a peacetime peak," he said.

REMEMBRANCE BOOK MARKER—A ceremony originally envisaged 17 years ago has at last made a planned addition to the memorial chamber of the Peace Tower of the Parliament Buildings at Ottawa. A hand-wrought book marker was dedicated for the Book of Remembrance. The book contains the names of 66,651 Canadians who died in the First World War. Shown placing the marker in position are Defence Minister Brooke Claxton (right) and Lt.-Gen. Sir John Brown, head of the British Empire Service League, a visitor in Canada. Members of the Cabinet, high army officers and B.E.S.L. delegates look on. The B.E.S.L. held its annual conference in Ottawa last week.—(CP Photo)

Victoria Exchanges Greetings With Bustliing Yellowknife

By JIM McKEACHIE
Victoria Times Staff Correspondent

YELLOWKNIFE — An ocean seaport and largest port on the inland sea, Great Slave Lake, exchanged greetings here Wednesday night when the first messages ever to be carried by sea between the two cities were presented at a joint civic and Board of Trade dinner marking the arrival of Arctic Marine Ltd.'s Yellowknife Expeditor.

The 160-foot ship docked amid the blare of automobile horns and the cheers of more than 200 persons assembled at the wharf.

At the dinner, local officials were handed letters from the city of Victoria and the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

Addressed to the citizens of Yellowknife and to Yellowknife Board of Trade respectively, they wished this humming gold mining centre on the north shore of the lake continued prosperity and noted that the arrival of the ship, largest ever to call here, was a significant step in the future of the north, a future which is necessarily dependent for expansion on its transportation facilities.

Fred A. Totzke, chairman of the Yellowknife board of trusteers, governing group, voiced appreciation of the gesture on the part of Victoria. Board of Trade President Percy W. Atkinson gave a similar reply to the Chamber of Commerce message.

People here were enthusiastic in their welcome of the ship. Mr. Totzke summed things up quite well when he termed it another milestone in the history of Yellowknife.

The ship's arrival could hardly have been more timely. It was only two days ago the announcement of the devaluation of the Canadian dollar was announced, and the result an increase in the value of gold mines. Yellowknife, one of the largest sources of the metal in the Dominion, has received a boost that most people here think will more than offset the relative slump since parity was inaugurated in July, 1946.

Many potential mines which curtailed development because of party may swing into production.

At present, three mines are in operation in this area, all large producers: Consolidated Mining and Smelting; Negus Mines Ltd., and Giant Yellowknife Mines.

Mining men and other citizens see the Yellowknife-Hay River freight service planned for next season for the Expeditor as a factor in the expansion they say will continue at renewed pace.

The arrival here of the 160-foot converted L.C.I., other than its importance to the Northwest Territories, is an event in itself in that it's the first time a ship has ever traveled by sea from Victoria to the Mackenzie River, via the Bering Straits and Arctic Ocean, and then navigated the entire 1,200 miles of the river and across Great Slave Lake. Total distance sailed was about 5,500 miles.

Plans Golf Driving Range

Victoria soon may have its first golf driving range.

B. Price, 2950 Earl Grey Road, asked the city today if he could lease two acres of property on Gorge Road at the foot of Carroll Street to operate a range seven days a week.

He proposed cutting brush on the property and planting grass.

Mr. Price thought the practice range would be welcomed by Victoria citizens as well as tourists who, he said, feel there should be more recreational facilities available here on Sundays.

Permission to operate on the Sabbath would be in keeping with the operation of regular golf courses on Sundays, Mr. Price stated.

British Pictures For Victoria Theatre

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

A plan by which Canadian movie audiences will see the best of British film fare and Britain will earn an increased share of vitally needed Canadian dollars, was announced this week by Famous Players' Canadian Corporation executives at a luncheon in the Hotel Vancouver.

Theatre managers from all over the province as well as representatives of press and radio, heard Robert Eves, Toronto representatives of Famous Players, explain the new policy which would provide the best of both England's and Hollywood's output in Famous Players houses all over Canada.

In Victoria's Dominion Theatre, the first of the new British pictures will be shown when "The Winslow Boy" starts a run, Sept. 30. Based on a famous English law case, the story of a man who sacrificed health, wealth and family to clear his son's name "that right might be done," was made by Terence Rattigan into a play which became famous on both sides of the Atlantic. Now it is a picture that is almost certain to be equally famous in the annals of the screen.

Among other British pictures that will follow, is "The Fallen Idol" directed by Carol Reed. This is the picture that was nominated the "best picture made anywhere in the world in 1949" and won awards over the competition of "Hamlet" and "Red Shoes." Others will be "Spring in Park Lane," "Bonnie Prince Charlie," the Canadian story, "Maria Chapdelaine" and "Saints and Sinners." All British pictures distributed by Famous Players Canadian Corporation will be shown in Victoria at the Dominion Theatre.

Says City Needs Small Industries

Larry Ecroyd, regional director of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, from Vancouver, advised the industrial bureau of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce Wednesday to concentrate its efforts on attracting more small businesses here.

"It is far better to have 10 small industries employing 10 men," he said, "than to have one large industry hiring 100."

Mr. Ecroyd thought Victoria was suited for small industries.

School Consultant In Mental Hygiene

MISS EDNA LAWRENCE
. . . New Post in Schools

Work in mental hygiene among schoolchildren in the Greater Victoria area is being improved with the appointment of a permanent consultant who will work with teachers and civic agencies.

The consultant is Miss Edna Lawrence, who formerly was on the teaching staff of the Greater Victoria school system.

Miss Lawrence took leave of absence last year to further her studies at University of Toronto. She entered the university on scholarships to take courses in the field of mental hygiene.

Since assuming her duties earlier in the month as mental hygiene consultant for Greater Victoria schools, Miss Lawrence has been visiting principals and conferring with civic agencies such as the Family Welfare Department, Child Guidance Clinic and the Health Department.

She will work in co-operation with the local organizations to help cure mental ills of schoolchildren.

Pickles To Seek Council Seat

If Ward Six is still a part of Saanich Municiaplity when the December elections roll around, Sydney Pickles, president of that ward's ratepayers' association, has stated his intention to run for council. Councillor W. C. Kersey, present council ward representative, has indicated he will not seek re-election.

Returns To Victoria From British Visit

Wilfred Moss, naval stores officer at H.M.C. Dockyard, has returned to Victoria following a month's visit to Britain.

Noting the many changes which had occurred since he last was there 37 years ago, Mr. Moss also commented on the food situation, urging Victorians who are sending food parcels to friends and relatives in the United Kingdom to include such items as canned fruits and meats, which are much appreciated overseas.

Decision to form an Irish Protestant Association was reached at a recent meeting held at 815 North Park Street for the purpose of preserving the love for Irish music, poetry and literature. The next meeting will be held at 650 Victoria Avenue, Oak Bay, Sept. 26 at 8.

Films Demonstrate Symphony Components

Another successful event for Symphony Week, organized by the Women's Symphony Society, was the showing Wednesday evening at Victoria High School of a series of five films dealing with the blend and components of the symphony orchestra.

The films were prefaced by a commentary by Hans Gruber, musical director of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra, in which he told some interesting facts about Toscanini and described a rehearsal he had watched Toscanini conduct. The Latin-inspired temperament of the great man is a deep and genuine emotional reflex, in the opinion of Mr. Gruber, brought to a head by a sense of his own failings, rather than those of his men.

Mr. Gruber made a strong impression for finer appreciation of individual musicianship in the orchestra. He feels that soloists, particularly in concerto work, get more than their fair share of applause, when actually the instrumentalists in a great orchestra have a far more sensitive and fully-developed musicianship than a good many soloists ever attain.

Schoolchildren At Arena Opening

Greater Victoria School Board is co-operating with the city in the official opening and dedication service for the Memorial Arena at 3 Sunday afternoon.

The board has agreed to loan to the city without charge 1,500 chairs from schools of the district.

The board also is selecting a representative group of schoolchildren from city schools to attend the ceremonies.

Civic officials in charge of the rink opening point out that the arena will be open Sunday evening for all children and adults to inspect. But because of the demand for seats, restrictions had to be placed on the number of children attending the after noon ceremonies.

Decision Coming On Secession Move

After talks with Reeve E. C. Warren of Saanich yesterday, Municipal Affairs Minister R. C. MacDonald indicated there would be a decision from the government in the near future on the application of the rebel Ward Six for secession from the municipality.

He indicated a plebiscite will be held but has not yet determined where this vote would be conifned to the ward ratepayers or the ratepayers of the whole of Saanich. Councillors W. C. Kersey, ward representative on Saanich Council, has made it known he is strongly opposed to a vote on the independence move being taken beyond the ward boundaries.

The DOCTOR Says:

READJUSTMENT IS MAIN PROBLEM OF AMPUTEES

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

About one-half million residents of the United States have suffered limb amputations; there are about 40,000 more added to this list every year. In the United States alone more than 20,000 amputations were required as a result of World War II.

The amputee has a problem to face. The loss of an arm or leg makes it impossible to do everything exactly as before. It does not mean, however, a life devoid of work or recreation. Amputees can fit in well to occupations with which the lost limb does not interfere.

Many amputees can and do engage in sports such as golf, tennis, bowling, roller skating, weight lifting, ping pong, dancing, and exen boxing. This does not mean that someone who has lost a limb can do everything that a person with four sound limbs can do and this the amputee must also learn.

SYMPATHY NOT WANTED

For some unknown reason, which is perhaps based on instinct, too many people with four sound limbs tend to have a certain attitude of embarrassment about the amputee.

This point of view is undesirable. The individual who has had the misfortune to have had an arm or leg amputated is otherwise perfectly normal mentally and emotionally.

The adjustment to the loss of a limb is a difficult one. It is most encouraging, however, to know that steps are being taken to improve the situation. Three years ago an organization of amputees known as Possibilities Unlimited was established in Cleveland.

It has already aided many in adjusting themselves to the loss of a leg or arm. It has also succeeded in interesting many industrialists and other employers in properly placing men or women with a missing limb.

Entirely aside from the excellent work done by this organization in easing the problems of the amputee, the fact that it has helped many to obtain useful work is an important economic contribution to the nation.

Question: I am very fat and have become worse since taking vitamin E for my heart. Will this help my heart?

Answer: Most of those who have studied vitamin E do not feel that there is sufficient reason to warrant the use of this substance for heart disease. Most doctors feel also that being overweight is harmful in most cases of heart disease.

MAGI OF ANCIENT PERSIA WERE LEARNED MEN

A famous man of ancient times was a Greek who made far travels, and wrote down things he saw and heard. His name was Herodotus, and he is known as "the Father of History." In telling about the religion of the Persians, he wrote words with this meaning:

"The Persians do not have temples or altars. It is their custom to go to high parts of mountains, and there to offer sacrifice to the sky-god.

"They also offer sacrifice to the sun and moon, to the earth, to fire, to water, and to the winds. These are the only truly Persian gods, but they also have a goddess named Mitra whom they 'borrowed' from the Arabians and Assyrians.

"When a Persian wishes to offer sacrifice he takes his victim to a plot of ground which is clear and clean. Then he cuts the animal into pieces, and boils the flesh, which he lays on a bed of clover, or other tender herbage. When all is ready, a Magi comes forward and chants a hymn which tells about the beginning of the gods.

"The person who offers a sacrifice is not allowed to pray for himself alone. He must pray for the welfare of the king, and for blessings on all the people of Persia."

When the Greek writer spoke of "a Magi," he meant a Persian priest. There were thousands of Magi in the Persian empire ,and they were looked upon as "the most learned of the people and the keepers of sacred things." People would not set out on a long journey, or go ahead with any other important action, without first asking their advice. If the Magi said "No," the deed would not be done. The priests had charge of teaching young princes, and even the king listened to their words.

That was how things were when the Persian empire was in its time of glory. In later times the Magi lost much of their power, and came to be jugglers, fortune-tellers, and workers of magic tricks. Our word "magic" came from the name "Magi."

The greatest leader of the old Persian religion was Zoroaster, or "Zarathustra." He lived about 2,600 years ago, and some say that he was the first Magi. His main teaching was about a god called Ormiazd or Mazda. At this day his religion is followed by people called Parsees, who live in certain parts of Persia and in the Bombay region of India.

Most Persians of the present time, however, have given up the old religion. They now follow the faith of Mohammed.

Plan Outdoor Bike Track In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver Sun reported Wednesday it has learned of plans to build a new outdoor bicycle racing track here.

The newspaper said the track —a six-laps-to-the-mile saucer— will be erected on False Creek flats under the direction of Art Butler, who designed a number of professional tracks in prewar years.

German Seeking Two Persons Here

The city detective office is asking citizens' help to locate two people being sought by H. von Schuecking, Duesseldorf am Rhein, Platanen Strasse 26/III, of the British Zone in Germany.

Being sought are Mrs. Mildred Ward von Schuecking, nee Mildred Ward Campbell, reported to be a native of Victoria, and Douglas Campbell von Schuecking. Detective John Lund said he could find no listing of them in the B.C. directory. Anyone knowing the whereabouts of these people is asked to contact the detective office, G 4112.

Insects Nourishing

BERKELEY, Calif. (UP) — You've probably eaten your share of bugs and insects in fruits and salads, but don't worry about it, said Professor E. O. Essig, University of California entomologist.

In fact, Essig said, bugs are often very nourishing and have been eaten by man for thousands of years.

Locusts are still part of the regular diets in the Orient, Australia, Africa and the Americas.

Paved streets were first tried out in Rome 2,000 years ago when an emperor recognized the need for efficient transportation facilities.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Bing Crosby and lovely Ann Blyth are that way about each other in Paramount's gay and lilting comedy, "Top o' the Morning," now showing at the Capitol Theatre. The film reunites Bing with Barry Fitzgerald and co-stars Hume Cronyn.

ODEON THEATRE

Stephen McNally's characterizations vary from such parts as the villainous fisherman in "Johnny Belinda" to the community centre leader — the "moral force"—in "City Across the River," story of juvenile crime, which is currently at the Odeon Theatre.

ROYAL THEATRE

David O. Selznick's long-awaited production, "Portrait of Jennie," which is rated one of his finest films since "Gone With the Wind," now showing at the Royal Theatre, has a production record which exceeds in scope any recent film release.

DOMINION THEATRE

Daringly different and intensely dramatic, "The Lost Patrol," now at the Dominion Theatre, presents Victor McLaglen, Boris Karloff, Wallace Ford, Reginald Denny and a strong supporting cast in a colorful story of military gallantry. On the same bill is spectacular "Gunga Din."

A new contender for the barbershop harmony title is seen and heard in Paramount's star-filled musical comedy now at the Oak Bay Theatre, "Variety Girl," with Gary Cooper, Barry Fitzgerald, Dorothy Lamour and Diana Lynn making up the quartet.

The quartet is spotlighted in the finale of the light-hearted star festival about life in Hollywood.

JUMP RAISE USED AS BARRICADE HERE

Charles H. Goren is a well-known bridge teacher and he gives us a good example in bidding in today's hand. It has to do with the proper interpretation of the jump raise by the opener's partner after second hand has made a take-out double.

When West doubles South's opening bid of one spade, North first of all knows that West has a strong hand and that probably if there is a gain to be made, East and West are most likely the ones who have the cards to make it. So North's jump to three spades is made in an effort to shut East out of the bidding.

South makes a mistake in bidding four spades. If he correctly interprets his partner's bid and passes three spades, West will find himself in a fix, and it is doubtful that he will have the nerve to come into the bidding at this high level. So South might easily buy the contract and go down only 100 points.

South should realize that North's raise is pre-emptive, for if North wishes to indicate strength, he could redouble. The jump raise in this situation is generally regarded as a barricade against the opposition, and on this particular hand it would work, as East and West can easily make four hearts.

ADDED SHORTS and NEWS

"Our whole family uses Noxzema," says charming Mrs. Constance Raymond of Toronto. "It's tops," she adds, "Grand for the children's tender skins ... and it's my regular all-purpose beauty cream."

CANADIAN FAMILIES FIND NOXZEMA GREAT FOR MANY SKIN TROUBLES

Get your big jar NOW! New beauty ... new skin comfort for the whole family

● EVERY FAMILY has its share of annoying little skin problems ... embarrassing facial blemishes, for instance, or rough, dry skin. Then there are red rough hands from housework ... uncomfortable baby rashes ... children's little burns and chafes ... painful chapping.

Pictured here are five Canadian women who have found the answer to these typical skin troubles. They are only five among the thousands of smart women all over Canada who are turning to the delightful medicated cream—Noxzema—to bring new comfort to the whole family and new skin beauty to themselves.

Lovelier Face, Hands

How about you—are you having any trouble with your skin? Are ugly blemishes marring your beauty ... does rough dry skin spoil your loveliness ... are you ashamed of your hands—are they red, rough and irritated from housework? Then take a tip from scores of professional women, models and actresses who rely on medicated Noxzema Skin Cream to help keep their skin soft, smooth and lovely.

Try Noxzema as a dainty protective powder base. Holds make-up beautifully yet doesn't clog your pores. Use it as your night cream before retiring. It's greaseless ... doesn't stain.

Get your jar while the big 6 ounce 93¢ jar is offered for only 79¢. If you now have Noxzema on hand—stock up at this bargain price—and save. Time is limited—so don't delay! At all drug and cosmetic counters.

Dry skin. Pat Heselton of Montreal says, "My skin was so dry and flaky I couldn't even use powder. But since using Noxzema regularly, I get many compliments on my skin."

Red, rough hands... "In our home we all use soothing Noxzema all winter long to protect our hands and faces from wind and weather," says Mrs. Johanna West of Winnipeg.

Children's tender skin needs wintertime protection! Mrs. Henry Clifford of Ancaster says, "I always use Noxzema on their faces when I put the children out to play."

Facial blemishes. Charming Hazel Gradinger of Montreal first used Noxzema for blemishes. "It proved so wonderfully effective," she says, "It's now my regular beauty cream."

GOOD USED FURNITURE
At WALLY GRAY'S RETAIL WAREHOUSE. We try to present the merchandise which we offer for sale in as clean and as near perfect condition as is possible. The majority of articles which we offer for sale have been used, and are not always in absolutely new-like condition, but in every case when we know that some fault exists, we point out such fault to the buyer. Why do we do this? Because that is just fair business practice and we like doing business that way.

Air Lines Begin To Set Up Classes Of Accommodation

Development of air transportation finally has lead to an adoption of a rate scale based on class of accommodation, similar to that of the trans-oceanic liners.

Eric Marshall, local travel agent, today noted several airline companies which already have adopted the new style in air travel. Trans-Canada Airlines are not, as yet, using the system.

Effective Oct. 14, Northwest Airlines, on its transcontinental service will set up rate scales for three separate types of plane accommodation. At the top will be that for travel aboard the double - decker Stratocruisers. The intermediate rate will be applied to passage aboard Douglas and Martin planes. The lowest rate, that for skycoaches, will be governed mainly by the reduced service aboard plane.

Northwest Airlines also operates a tourist class service by air to Alaska.

Pan-American Airlines now are operating two classes on the South America run, first class and tourist class. The tourist class offers smaller seats, box lunches instead of hot meals; slower service, no bar service, no reading materials and longer stopovers.

Mr. Marshall anticipated Pan-American would inaugurate a similar tourist class service on the trans-Atlantic run before long.

In addition, he expected to see air lines and shipping companies begin operating on an interchange business with passengers traveling one way by ship and returning by air. Such an interchange of service is now in effect on the run between Bermuda and New York.

U.S. Commerce Head To Arrive By Plane 9.45 Friday Morning

Plans are now complete for the visit here Friday of U.S. Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer and six of his department heads.

The visiting government officials will arrive at Patricia Bay airport at 9.45 by special plane from Seattle and will remain in this city until 4.

The party will be met at the airport by representatives of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and the provincial department of industry.

Walter Miles, president of the city chamber, will head the welcoming committee and others will be H. C. Holmes, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island; Fred Hawes, vice-president of the Victoria chamber; J. V. Johnson, past president, and George I Warren, secretary.

Ed. Rowebottom, Deputy Minister of Trade and Industry for B.C., and J. T. Gawthrop will represent the provincial government department.

From the airport, the visitors will be taken to Government House to meet Lt.-Gov. and Mrs. Charles A. Banks. From there, the party will proceed to the Empress Hotel where Mr. Sawyer will address a joint meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and Lions Club at 12.05.

During the limited time left at his disposal, Mr. Sawyer and his associates will confer with government officials at the Parliament Buildings.

With the commerce secretary will be C. Hayward, director of field service; H. B. McCoy, director of domestic commerce; W. H. Devlin, chief of area development; R. H. Hetzel Jr., director of office program planning; George Vander Hoff, officer of publications, and D. W. Rentzel, administrator of civil aeronautics.

No Serious Injury From Revaluation For Dairy Industry

No very serious injuries to British Columbia's dairy industry is seen as a result of adjustments in the world's currencies effected this week.

While other parts of Canada export considerable quantities of dairy products, including cheese, canned and powdered milk, according to officials of the provincial agriculture department's dairy branch, B.C. only exports in quantity canned and powdered milk. Since much of this is believed to go to sterling countries, it is possible that the dairy may suffer in this phase of its business.

The canned and powdered milk production of the province is not, however, considered large in comparison to the whole dairy industry or to production of other parts of the nation.

British Columbia fails to produce sufficient cheese to meet its own demands and some cream is imported from Alberta to the eastern centres of the province. Butter imports to British Columbia are considerable.

Want No Increase In Radio Licenses

Members of the Esquimalt Legion expressed themselves Wednesday night as being entirely opposed to proposed increased radio license fees. They decided to forward a resolution to this effect for consideration at the next meeting of the legion zone council.

Main objection to any increase in the license fee was that it would be an added burden on pensioners.

Second Royal Mail Ship Within One Day

The Royal Mail Line's Loch Garth is due in Victoria Friday noon with a general cargo from the United Kingdom, just one day following arrival of another company ship, the Loch Ryan, it was reported today by Eric Marshall of George Paulin Ltd., shipping agents.

Aboard the Loch Garth will be 100 tons of cargo for Victoria and one passenger bound for Victoria, Mrs. B. D. Cobbold. Master of the Loch Garth is Capt. R. N. Fletcher.

The Loch Ryan arrived in Victoria at 4 this morning with 300 tons of cargo and passengers, including five for Vancouver Island. She is sailing for Vancouver late this afternoon.

Ss. Angelika Due At San Pedro Friday

Ss. Angelika, formerly the C.P.R. coast vessel Princess Adelaide, which sailed from Victoria Saturday on the first leg of a 35-day voyage to her new home port of Pireaus, Greece, will reach San Pedro, Calif., Friday afternoon, it was learned today.

The Angelika is commanded by Capt. John Papadakis and is sailed by a 21-man crew.

From San Pedro, she will sail for Manzanilla, Mexico, and then for the Panama Canal, Trinidad, St. Vincent, Cape Verde Islands, and Gibraltar, before the last leg of her journey to Greece.

Mayor Welcomes New Housing Plan

Mayor Percy George today welcomed the announcement from Ottawa that the federal government plans a housing program aimed at cutting approximately in half the down payment required of prospective home-owners.

"This announcement is very welcome," said the Victoria mayor who, as a member of the executive of Canadian Federation of Mayors has been pressing for action along this line.

"The plan of the government will make it easier for veterans and others to acquire the house of their dreams and it should have other beneficial effects as well," Mayor Percy George said.

He thought applications for government loans to build houses would increase noticeably and as a result the building and lumbering industries would be stimulated.

Nanaimo Light Out

Financial Review

The U.S. government may give bigger susidies to American shipyards so they will be able to compete with British and Canadian shipyards. Devaluation of the British pound and Canadian dollar has cheapened building costs in these two nations.

An official of the U.S. Maritime Commission was quoted today as having declared the commission will not let U.S. shipbuilders take a beating on costs in competition with foreign yards.

Under U.S. law, the government can pay the American builders subsidies, covering the difference in cost between building there and in foreign yards.

NASH CARS DOWN

Nash Motor Compay, Detroit, announced price reductions of from $73 to $140 today. The reductions will apply to the company's new 1950 model cars, which go on display Friday in U.S. showrooms.

A company spokesman said the price cuts were possible because of reduced production costs and a freer flow of materials. This is the first price reduction by any U.S. auto manufacturer since the series of cuts last spring.

In Canada, the cuts will have the effect of offsetting a rise in price brought about by Canadian dollar devaluation.

Dividend declared: National Steel Car Corp Ltd. declared an extra dividend of 50 cents, payable Oct. 31. A quarterly dividend of 37½ cents will be paid Oct. 15.

Bengough Returned As T.L.C. President; Cushing Sec.-Treas.

CALGARY (BUP) — Percy Bengough was re-elected president of the Trades and Labor Congress for his eighth successive year at the Congress' convention here this morning.

And Gordon Cushing, secretary of the Alberta Federation of Labor and the Calgary Trades and Labor Council, was elected as general secretary-treasurer over "Hall" group candidate Hugh Sedgewick, secretary of the Ontario Federation of Labor.

Cushing was elected by a vote of 427 to 361.

James A. Whitebone of St. John's was re-elected vice-president for the Maritimes without opposition.

Railroad Bridge Underpass Sought

View Royal Community Association has appealed to the Federal Transport Minister for some assistance for an underpass at the Helmcken Avenue railroad bridge. The railroad bridge, at the end of the View Royal School ground on which a $97,000 school is now being erected, is considered a traffic hazard.

The association also sent a letter to the Minister of Public Works in Victoria protesting the refusal of the department to construct a sidewalk from Six-Mile House to Helmcken Avenue along the Island Highway. As many as 175 children will have to walk on the highway when attending the new school, it was pointed out.

Canadian Students To Study In France

Believing in the vital importance of intellectual co-operation and cutural exchange as one of the means of establishing greater understanding between nations, the French government this year alone has awarded 43 scholarships to Canadian students, permitting them to study in France during the university year 1949-1950.

France, in spite of great difficulties, has made a particular effort to maintain these scholarships and some countries, like Canada, have been added to the list of beneficiaries since the Second World War.

$300 Fine For Selling Liquor

A fine of $300, or in default three months in jail, was imposed against Chinese Gin Gee, 538 Fisgard Street, by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today on a bootlegging charge. Through counsel A. B. Macfarlane a plea of guilty was entered to the charge of selling liquor at 538 Fisgard Sept. 18. After reporting a constable purchased a 26-ounce bottle of rye for $6, Sgt. Thomas Banister exhibited to the court a quantity of rye, rum, whiskey and grape wine collected in the raid. Liquor was ordered confiscated.

Program Announced For Opening Sunday Of City's Memorial Arena

Program for the official opening and dedication of Victoria's Memorial Arena on Sunday afternoon at 3 was announced today by Mayor Percy George.

Because attendance at the ceremonies will be restricted mainly to city property owners and a representative group of city schoolchildren, an "open house" will be held Sunday evening, which anyone may attend.

Program of the opening will start with the singing of O Canada and this will be followed by an address by Ald. Ed. Williams, City Council arena committee chairman, on the purposes of the ceremony.

A hymn, "Faith of Our Fathers," then will be sung, after which Flt. Lt. R. P. Condon, group chaplain, No. 12 Group, R.C.A.F., will give a Scripture reading.

Address of dedication by Command Chaplain G. L. Gillard, M.B.E., of the Royal Canadian Navy, will follow.

Hon. Capt. G. D. Kendell, chaplain for the Department of Veterans' Affairs Hospital, will give a prayer of dedication.

Unveiling of the memorial plaque in the foyer of the arena will follow and the assembly in the arena proper will be described over the public address system.

WAR VETERANS

The unveiling will be made by M. L. A. Thompson, an ex-flight sergeant of the R.C.A.F., who will be supported by two other injured war veterans, T. H. Manifold, ex-chief engine-room artificer, R.C.N., and C. F. Lawrence, ex-captain of the P.P.C.L.I.

Sounding of the Last Post then will be made by Bandsman R. Harbridge and Bandsman D. Fisher of the R.C.N.

Two minutes silence will be observed in memory of the war dead and Reveille then will be sounded.

Ten wreaths will be placed at the base of the plaque by Lieutenant-Governor Charles Banks, Mrs. Rachel Williams, representing war-bereaved mothers; Rev. W. R. Ashford, vice-president of the Victoria Ministerial Association; Premier Byron I. Johnson; Mayor Percy George; Cmdr. J. C. I. Edwards, C.V.E., R.C.N., senior naval officer H.M.C.S. Naden; Lieut.-Col. A. Perron, E.D., commander of the Victoria and Esquimalt Garrison; Group Capt. J. A. Easton, O.B.E., group commander No. 12 Group Headquarters, R.C.A.F.; Carl Fallas, Victoria zone commander, Canadian Legion, and Mrs. G. B. Elliott, second vice-regent, I.O.D.E.

MAYOR TO SPEAK

Dignitaries then will return to the arena proper where Ald. Williams will introduce Mayor George. The chief magistrate will speak briefly in turning over the keys of the arena to the Memorial Arena Commission.

F. N. Cabeldu, chairman of the commission, will reply to the mayor's remarks and the ceremony will conclude with the singing of God Save the King, and benediction by Command Chaplain Gillard.

Ushers are being provided by the Canadian Legion. Music will be supplied by a 30-piece band from the Victoria Musicians' Union which also will play at the "open house" in the evening.

Hears Vancouver Case; Dismisses Appeal Of Skater

Appeal Court heard today the appeal of Leslie Hafflor against a conviction of a Vancouver lower court which found him guilty of breaking and entering Finch Garage Ltd. The accused was sentenced to eight months' imprisonment.

Joseph Marcoux, Nanaimo hockey player, lost his appeal against a conviction of stealing two sewing machines from the Ladysmith Annex School. They also turned down his appeal from his 18-month sentence.

The court, however, agreed to date the sentence from the time of his conviction last May, instead of following the usual course of beginning it after the unsuccessful appeal.

In his appeal, Marcoux contended that he was in Nanaimo at the time the machines were taken from the school's home economic room.

Trade Expert Coming From Lima On Friday

Vancouver Island manufacturers and exporters interested in doing business with northern South American countries will have an opportunity on Friday to discuss trade conditions with Clarence Joseph Van Tighem, Canadian commercial secretary at Lima, Peru.

Arrangements to meet Mr. Van Tighem may be made through the office of the trade commissioner at the Parliament Buildings.

A naval veteran of the Second World War and a graduate in commerce of the University of Manitoba, Mr. Van Tighem entered Canada's foreign trade service in 1945.

August Coal Output Again Shows Loss

British Columbia's August coal production figures again reflected a loss mainly because the Corbin strip operations in the Kootenays are not being worked this summer.

Production last month totaled 141,848 short tons, compared with 224,659 tons for August, 1948. The Corbin operation in August, 1948, had produced 66,130 tons. Not a ton was produced last month.

On Vancouver Island, however, 52,279 tons were produced last month compared with 46,942 tons during the previous August. No. 10 Mine, South Wellington, was the biggest island producer with 21,765 tons.

Validity Of M.V.A. Careless Driving Section Challenged

In city police court today counsel D. E. C. Anderson recently admitted to the Bar, presented arguments before Magistrate H. C. Hall contending that Section 57 of the Motor Vehicle Act "is invalid as it conflicts with Subsection 285, Sub-section 6 of the Criminal Code."

Magistrate Hall reserved decision on the case to next Tuesday. He also remanded Robert L. Sandwith, Prospect Lake, P.O., to that date for judgment on a careless driving charge. It was this case which brought Mr. Anderson's claim. He is defence counsel.

"Section 57 of the M.V.A. is ultra-vires and nobody should be charged under it," declared counsel.

Among documents counsel turned over to the court was a letter from the assistant deputy minister of justice which noted that department was not going to intervene in the case, but asking for a copy of Magistrate Hall's judgment.

Under the code the charge is dangerous driving and under the provincial act it is typed as careless driving. The latter usually carries a lighter penalty.

Mr. Anderson claimed in his lengthy arguments both sections dealt with the same subject matter and that the Dominion statute made the M.V.A. section non-operative.

Johnson Finds New Enthusiasm For Peace River Area Resources

Premier Johnson returned to his office here today more enthusiastic than ever about the north country and the development now taking place there.

During his tour the Premier traveled over the provincially-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway, visited the construction camps which are pushing the railway northward from Quesnel toward Prince George, traveled over the John Hart Highway being pushed northward from Prince George and southward from Dawson Creek, visited the Hassler Creek area where coal reserves are being proved up and saw operations in the Peace River area where drilling is proceeding for natural gas and oil.

The Premier reported good progress was being made on both the Pacific Great Eastern Railway extension and the building of the John Hart Highway. The weather had hindered the construction of the road, he said.

The development now under way and that which can be expected during the next 10 years he described as tremendous.

He said the Peace River district this year would harvest a bumper grain crop, that geologists were confident that oil would be found in the northwestern part of British Columbia just as it had across the border in Alberta, and that the coal resources being proved up in the Peace River area would warrant development.

The Premier said all this development made it more obvious than ever that a railway must be provided to link the Peace River area with the coast.

Kiwanians Plan Big October Sale

A combined rummage sale and auction is planned by the Victoria Kiwanis Club as a means of raising funds for the continuance of its charitable work.

It is proposed the joint sales run during the week of Oct. 22 at either the Bay Street Armories or the Public Market building.

Kiwanians are hoping the venture will net at least $2,000. Art Roberts is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

COUNTY CLUB

BY HOLLOWAY HORN

Principal Characters:

ARTHUR DOLLIMORE: A very modern product of the Metropolitan Police College.

SUPERINTENDENT DUCROS: An older and more experienced police officer.

SILAS ROLLITER: A solicitor whose knowledge of the law enables him to ignore it . . . for a time.

MRS. LEWIN: The wealthy widow of a South African magnate.

MARY STENNING: Her young secretary and companion.

MONTY FERNANDEZ: Who manages the Mossford County Club—suave and cosmopolitan.

SYNOPSIS OF PREVIOUS CHAPTERS

SUPERINTENDENT DUCROS and STATION-INSPECTOR DOLLIMORE arrive as guests at the Mossford County Club run by MONTY FERNANDEZ in what was once a gracious English manor house. They have been sent to track FLASH CARDEW, a former associate of Fernandez, who has arrived in Britain from America and is wanted by the police.

On the night of their arrival Mrs. Lewin is found murdered in her room. The detectives get to work immediately.

(Now Read On)

INSTALLMENT 5

"NOBODY, OF COURSE, will go into this room," Superintendent Ducros said to the policeman at the door of the room in which Mrs. Lewin had been found dead. "And keep an eye on the window. You never know."

They found Dollimore in the office with Fernandez.

"There were just over 70 people, including the servants, in the club," the young Inspector said grimly.

"Is that all?" said Ducros, as he glanced through the list. "This is inclusive?" he demanded, looking sharply at Fernandez.

"As far as I can ascertain. The housekeeper gave the list of the servants. I'm quite sure about the waiters."

"This man Rolliter?" Ducros asked, touching one of the names. "You mentioned him before."

"My solicitor. He was here earlier in the evening."

"And Charles McKenzie—the next name?"

"A business acquaintance of my solicitor. He was considering joining the syndicate which runs the club. You probably noticed the two of them sitting at the corner table this evening."

"They've gone?"

"Yes. An hour or so ago."

"Just after Mrs. Lewin was murdered?"

"I suppose so—if it was an hour ago."

"Everybody else is staying here?"

"No. A good many are visitors who have come in for dinner and dancing. Most of them come in fairly regularly."

"Members of the club?"

"Yes. At least they should be. The porter has instructions . . ."

ADMITS OVERSIGHT

"Inspector Dollimore and I are not members," Ducros pointed out. "I rang up from town and booked rooms exactly as if you were an hotel, and we've been supplied with wines and spirits."

"That was an oversight. The porter . . ." Fernandez said anxiously.

"You are responsible for the running of the club, not the porter. Mark off in ink the names of the people who are staying here tonight."

"Who were staying here tonight," Fernandez said dolefully. Most of them will go like a shot when you say they may; this kind of thing puts the tin hat on a place like this."

"The ones who have engaged rooms, anyway," Ducros said.

Fernandez did so.

"And now mark of in pencil those who are actually members of the club."

"Thank you," he said when this had been done. "The rest are servants in one capacity or another, or casual visitors? You say you have spent the entire evening in your office?"

"Since I had dinner. I went out with Rolliter and McKenzie when they went, but returned the moment they had gone. Waiters and other people have been in and out of my office during the evening."

"That was just about when Mrs. Lewin was murdered—when you went out of the office, I mean?"

"I didn't notice the time." Fernandez was perspiring and wiped his forehead with a yellow silk handkerchief.

"What time was she murdered?" Ducros went on.

"How on earth do I know?" Fernandez burst out.

"Now, take it calmly," Ducros advised. "What was the business your solicitor came down about?"

"We wanted to extend the place. McKenzie will probably put some capital in; or at least he might have done before this happened."

"You're short of capital?"

"Who isn't. We sank a lot in the place."

"Who's we?"

"My friends and I. The syndicate that is running it."

"A limited liability company?"

"No."

"Have you your pass-book here?"

"Yes. But have you any right——."

ADVISED TO HELP

"You will be well advised to help me." Ducros said in a different tone of voice. "You've nothing to hide, have you?"

"No," said Fernandez sullenly. "But I don't think that you should cross-examine me like this in the absence of my solicitor."

"I'm not cross-examining you. I want to ascertain certain facts in connection with the lady who was murdered in your club an hour or so ago. If you refuse to help me I shall make a note of the fact. Since you have nothing to hide, why not answer my questions simply?"

"You can see my pass-book if you wish. It isn't pleasant reading I'm afraid."

As he spoke, he opened a drawer in his desk and took out a small leather wallet. "There you are," he said and passed it to Ducros.

"Um——overdrawn."

"Yes. Is that a criminal offence?"

"No. Not that I'm aware of. What is Rolliter's address by the way?"

"7 Goweril Street, W."

"How long has Mrs. Lewin been here?"

"Three weeks."

"Where did she come from?"

"I'm not sure—wait a minute." He took a file and went through the letters it contained. "The Belon Hotel, Hyde Park. She's been traveling about for some time, I understand. Miss Stenning, her companion, could tell you."

"May I see the letter she sent you?"

"Yes."

'THIS MEANS RUIN!'

Ducros glanced at the letter, open in the file: "Miss Stenning wrote, I notice," he said.

"Yes. She was her secretary."

"And she was recommended here by your solicitor, Mr. Rolliter?"

"I believe she was."

"Who was she?"

"Mrs. Lewin?—a widow. I really know very little about her. Miss Stenning could tell you."

"That's all you know—that she was a widow?"

"Yes. Excepting that she was apparently a wealthy woman."

"What was her husband?"

"I don't know. Something in South Africa, I believe—but I'm not sure."

"When did he die?"

"I don't know."

Ducros glanced at Dollimore.

"What made you think she was wealthy?" the Station Inspector asked.

"Just observation. Her bills here were not small—she had two of our best rooms—and they were paid on the nail. She had a good car and a secretary."

"Has her nephew been here?"

"No. I've heard that she has a nephew in the locality—a farmer or something—but I don't think they were on the best of terms. Anyway, he never came here so far as I know."

"He wasn't here tonight?" Dollimore pursued.

"I heard that he was a friend of the secretary—Miss Stenning—and that he sometimes called for her. I don't think he saw his aunt much. He may have been here to see the young lady—I don't know."

"You appreciate that Mrs. Lewin must have been murdered by one of these people, if the list is inclusive?" Dollimore asked.

"I—suppose so. I don't know. It would be easy for anyone to get onto the balcony in front of her window."

"In the front of the house? With the lights on? And people strolling about to the lawns?" Dollimore questioned.

"I suppose not," Fernandez admitted.

"So it must have been one of this list?" Dollimore asked again.

"It might have been you," Fernandez pointed out. "Unless you were in the dance room the whole time."

"Or me," Ducros put in, "or even you, Fernandez. But we want to make it definite if we can. You mentioned her car. Had she a chauffeur?"

"Not here. Miss Stenning drove the car. Is there any objection to the people going now?" Fernandez went on. "It may be extremely inconvenient to them to be kept here. This business will just about finish us. It means ruin!" Again he wiped his forehead with the yellow handkerchief.

"See to it, Dolly," Ducros said. "Let the casual visitors go if they wish to—and if you're satisfied that they are casual visitors. There'll hardly be any more dancing, I imagine, this evening."

"Right!"

"And now I should like a chat with Miss Stenning, Fernandez."

"I'll send for her."

Dollimore hesitated, but Ducros was his superior officer, and he had no choice. A minute or so after he had left the room, Mary Stenning came in. He face was very white, but in other respects she appeared to be perfectly calm.

Angela Lansbury Feels No Ill-Will Towards Vicar

By HOWARD O. HEYN
(For Bob Thomas)

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Angela Lansbury says she feels no ill-will toward the Church of England vicar who blocked her marriage in the church of her childhood.

Angela returned to London for the first time in eight years, to be wed in Bow Street Church. She was denied the privilege, as a divorcee.

"It was a disappointment, of course," admitted the baby-faced Angela, " but I don't blame him (Rev. G. F. J. Ansell). He was only observing church policy."

It was quite a shock, Miss Lansbury said, to learn from reporters at the dock that venerable Bow Church was closed to her. "It had not occurred to us that we might be turned down."

Angela and interior decorator Peter Shaw took more than two weeks to decide upon another church. They were finally married by a Church of Scotland minister. Now back in Hollywood, she and Peter have set up housekeeping in her home.

Angela is the former wife of actor Richard Cromwell.

'Grumpy' Dies

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Gordon (Grumpy) Spring, one of the best-known figures in the Canadian lacrosse world, died in hospital here Wednesday night. He was 60 and had been ailing for more than a month.

As a player, he was associated with the old Salmonbellies when they won the Minto Cup some 25 years ago. "Grumpy" was noted for his hard and accurate shot.

He coached the fishmen to several Dominion titles and lately was with them in an advisory capacity. "Grumpy" is survived by his widow; his father, Isaac Spring; and two sons, Albert and Gordon.

Fear Sabotage Attempt At Salmo School

SALMO, B.C. (CP)—Provincial police here are investigating a cache of dynamite, complete with caps and fuses, found near the Salmo elementary school.

While considering the possibility of an attempt to sabotage the building, police said the explosives were weatherbeaten, and might have been there for some time.

One officer suggested they might have been hidden there during Doukhobor demonstrations earlier this year. At that time the new $85,000 school at Tarrys burned after a mysterious explosion, and threats were reported against other schools in the district.

Salmo is about 20 miles south of Nelson in the West Kootenays, Tarrys some 20 miles northwest of here.

German Fists Shake In Parliament Over Loss Of Territory

BONN (UP)—A Communist suggestion that Germany reconcile itself to the loss of its eastern strip annexed to Poland after the war threw the Lower House of Parliament into an uproar today.

Right wing deputies rose to walk out when Max Reimann, No. 1 Communist of West Germany, made the suggestion. Fists were shaken in Communists' faces, and angry shouts filled the hall.

Reimann advised the House to accept the Oder-Neisse line, marking the postwar frontier of Eastern Germany and Poland. All other parties, in commenting on the eastern border, had demanded the return of that territory.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer shouted and waved briskly, finally persuading the deputies to shuffle back to their seats.

New Ruling Will Slow Down School Basketballers

VANCOUVER (CP)—The busy high school basketballers in British Columbia have been slowed down by a new ruling from the B.C. Amateur Basketball Association.

President Harry Chapman announces that officials have been asked to curb the basketball activities of some students and increase others. High school athletic directors have been asked to order students to play basketball either for their school or for a commercial team, but not both.

Chapman apparently felt that some students might impair their health if they play too much basketball and he was anxious to get students playing who are not now doing so.

Weather Forecast

Clear today and Friday with fog patches along shores tonight. Light winds, little change in temperature. Low tonight, 48; high Friday, 66.

Jockeying For Position

Gordon Richards, left, and Johnny Longdon head for the paddock at Doncaster, England, where the British and American champions rode in the same race for the first time. Richards, England's top kick with 3,905 winners, seems pretty cocky, and not without reason. He won on the favorite, Wat Tyler. Longdon finished eighth on one of Aga Khan's horses.

6 Britons, 2 Americans In Golf Quarter-Finals

TADWORTH, England (CP)—Six Britons and two Americans today qualified for the quarter-finals of the British Professional Golfers' Association championship.

At the end of the third and fourth rounds, played today on the Walton Health course, Lloyd Mangrum and Johnny Palmer were the only survivors among the American contingent.

Mangrum scored an easy fourth-round victory over Norman Quigley, north of England champion, 5 and 4. Quigley in the third round had ousted same Snead of the United States 2 up.

Palmer eliminated T. H. T. Fairbarn 4 and 2.

Charles Ward, British Ryder Cup player, moved into the quarter-finals with a 4 and 3 victory over J. Hargreaves, another Briton.

E. F. Hill of Britain knocked out Clayton Heafner of the United States 3 and 1.

Henry Cotton, a Briton who has several times won the British Open crown, scored an easy victory over H. Dodsworth 5 and 4.

Snead, first American P.G.A. champion to play for the British P.G.A. title, was five down at the turn of his third-round match.

Chemists Say 'No' To Drugs For Horses

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—The Association of Official Racing Chemists today said "No" to the administration of drugs to horses engaged in competition.

The suggestion that local anaesthetics be permitted on horses with sore legs or feet had been offered tentatively by Dan Chappell, president of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association. It has not been accepted in any of the racing states.

Hunchuck Wants Season Pay Boost

KELOWNA (CP) — Defenceman George Hunchuck is playing an elusive woodchuck's game with Vancouver Canucks of the Pacific Coast Hockey League. He wants more dough and can't come to terms with owner Coley Hall.

Hunchuck, the rushing Moose Jaw boy who became the darling of Vancouver hockey fans last year with his spectacular rink-length charges, was made an offer Wednesday. Hunchuck wanted more money, Coley Hall said the offer's final.

And that's the way it stands. Hall says if George doesn't make up his mind soon there will not be a place for him on this year's "expensive" Canuck squad.

'He Seemed To Be Working There' Says Passenger

CLEVELAND—Mrs. Earl T. Lindeman of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, told Coroner Samuel R. Gerber, who is conducting an inquiry here into the Noronic disaster as a special deputy of Ontario's Attorney-General Dana Porter, that at 9.30 Friday night she saw a "cabin boy sitting in the linen room smoking a cigarette. He seemed to be working there," she said.

The known death list in the disaster is placed at 136. Survivors of the Toronto Noronic disaster at an informal hearing here said that no fire alarm was sounded and that fire-fighting equipment and activity was inadequate.

J. Donald Church of Silver Springs, O., said he saw the fire first as he walked along C deck. The fire, he added, was in a linen closet between staterooms 439 and 440. Efforts by a members were present as the passen tinguisher and by Church with a fire hose failed.

The hose, Church said, failed to produce water although he turned the valve and jerked on the hose to unwind it.

Church stated the alarm was never sounded and that he didn't see anyone else fighting the flames.

Earlier in the hearing today several surviving passengers had testified that they heard no fire alarm and that few crew members were resent as the passengers fled the burning ship.

In answer to an announcement their statements would be recorded about 40 persons from northern Ohio had appeared at the city hall.

Man, Wife Jailed On Narcotics Charge

VANCOUVER (CP)—A sordid story of narcotics craving which paved the road to the penitentiary for a 20-year-old man and his wife was told in police court here today.

Stanley Lowe was sentenced to five years for selling morphine; his wife, Geraldine, also 20, got three years. The sentences were among the heaviest imposed in police court here in months.

Constant demand for more money to satisfy the couple's lust for morphine was cited as the reason they embarked on the distribution end of the racket. They had been "peddling" only one week.

Magistrate W. W. B. McInnes said he was imposing a lighter sentence on the wife because he suspected she might have been influenced by the "masterful male."

Albertans Protest

EDMONTON (CP) — Claims that efforts to hold down the cost of living has "been ruined" by the eight-per-cent increase in freight rates were made by retailers and manufacturers here today. The increase was announced in Ottawa by the Board of Transport Commissioners.

The Edmonton Journal said the businessmen also predicted the increase would eliminate any chance of distributing Alberta products further afield.

A retail food store spokesman said the cost of living would bounce to new heights.

Freight Jump May Not Raise B.C. Living Costs

VANCOUVER (CP) — Living costs in British Columbia are not likely to show any appreciable rise under the 8 per cent freight rate increase granted the rail ways today.

Charles W. Brazier, B.C. counsel in the tangled three-year battle over rates, said the verdict of the Board of Transport Commissioners is "a very favorable one to us."

It will increase the province's annual $70,000,000 freight bill by $5,600,000, but the increased rates on most consumer goods are likely to be so small that wholesalers and retailers will absorb them.

Mr. Brazier explained that much of the traffic from the east moves under the favorable commodity rates schedule.

Dealers said the judgment was favorable to B.C. coal seeking competitive sales with U.S. coal in Ontario. Coal and coke rates have been held to an increase of eight cents a ton.

Mr. Brazier and other rate authorities had feared the general increase would run 10 to 12 per cent.

Ships Collide, But No Damage Done

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The British freighter Lochgarth and the Charles S. Jones, a Richfield tanker, collided early today off the northern California coast, but neither was damaged.

The U.S. Coast Guard said the Jones reported by radio it had been struck in the stern. The scene was near Mendocino.

The Jones was en route to Los Angeles, while the Lochgarth left San Francisco Wednesday night bound for Vancouver.

Salmon-Running Racket Smashed On Fraser River

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Fisheries investigations appeared today to have smashed a wholesale "salmon - running" racket on the Fraser River.

Summonses returnable next Wednesday were being served today on eight Fraser Valley fishermen, suspected of illegal possession of fish. Fisheries officials allege that salmon caught by Indians in an area above Mission bridge, which is closed to whites, were bought for re-sale on the Vancouver market.

Five cars and 450 sockeye were seized at Abbotsford and Rosedale by the investigators.
